Biographical History

Suellen Hoy was born in Chicago, Illinois, on August 14, 1942. She earned her B.A. from St. Mary's College in Notre Dame, Indiana, in 1965. She spent seven years as a member of the Sisters of the Holy Cross. She then attended Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana, where she earned her M.A. and Ph.D. in 1971 and 1975 respectively. Dr. Hoy served in a number of capacities within the history profession, beginning her career as a history teacher at Marian Central High School in Woodstock, Illinois, and Highland Senior High School in Highland, Indiana, where she taught until 1968. In 1974, she taught as an assistant professor in the history department at the State University of New York until she was appointed as the first director of the Public Works Historical Society in Chicago in 1975. Through her employment with the Public Works Historical Society, Dr. Hoy published two books with Michael C. Robinson entitled History of Public Works in the United States, 1776-1976, and Public Works History in the United States: A Guide to the Literature. She also co-founded the National Council on Public History in 1980 and served on its board of directors. In 1981, Dr. Hoy took a position as deputy director of the North Carolina Division of Archives and History in Raleigh, North Carolina, where she remained until 1987.

In 1987, Dr. Hoy earned a position as a visiting associate professor in the history department at the University of Notre Dame. In 1991, her husband Walter Nugent, also a history professor at the University of Notre Dame, served as a guest professor at University College Dublin in Ireland. Dr. Hoy accompanied her husband to Ireland and also served as a visiting professor at University College as she conducted research on Irish women religious. She used this research for the publication of her book From Dublin to New Orleans: The Journey of Nora and Alice, which she wrote with Irish historian Margaret MacCurtain, as well as the articles “The Journey Out: The Recruitment and Emigration of Irish Religious Women to the United States, 1912-1914,” published in the Journal of Women’s History in 1995 and “Walking Nuns: Chicago’s Irish Sisters of Mercy,” published in At the Crossroads: Old St. Patrick’s and the Chicago Irish in 1997.

When she returned to the United States in 1992, Dr. Hoy continued to research women religious orders, particularly those who resided in Chicago. Dr. Hoy published several articles on Chicago women religious orders in such publications as the Journal of Women’s History, Journal of Urban History, Journal of Illinois History, Chicago History, and U.S. Catholic Historian. In 2006, she published a collection of these essays as Good Hearts: Catholic Sisters in Chicago’s Past, which earned the Illinois State Historical Society’s Certificate of Excellence in 2007. In addition to her works on Catholic nuns, Dr. Hoy also published a book entitled Chasing Dirt: The American Pursuit of Cleanliness in 1995 and wrote numerous articles on issues such as public health, public works, and the history profession. Later publications focused on Chicago women activists included Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years in 2010, Chicago Working Women’s Struggle for a Shorter Day, 1908–1911” (Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society, 2014), “The Irish Girls’ Rising: Building the Women’s Labor Movement in Progressive-Era Chicago” (Labor: Studies in Working-Class History of the Americas, 2012), “Sidelined: The Chicago Women’s Trade Union League in the Interwar Years” (Labor: Studies in Working-Class History of the Americas, 2018).

Dr. Hoy received numerous grants and fellowships to support her research and was also recognized by the Conference of the History of Women Religious, earning their Lifetime Achievement Award in 2007. Dr. Hoy lived in Seattle, Washington and worked as an independent scholar before her death on May 4, 2023.

Scope and Content

The Suellen Hoy, Ph.D., Papers consist of research files pertaining to Dr. Hoy’s publications on women religious orders. Most of the materials in this collection are copies of original documents located at other archival repositories and as a result the copyright for the materials resides with the original repository. Generally, the repository has marked the documents obtained from their archives by Dr. Hoy. Dr. Hoy’s research includes files on individual religious orders, Catholic schools and churches in Chicago, charitable organizations, immigration of Irish nuns, and social activism. Most of the materials are copies of newspaper articles and records held in other archives, but the collection also includes a selection of photographs, audio tapes, compact discs, slides, and videocassettes. The materials are divided by subject and arranged alphabetically within series.

Series 1: Publications, 1994-2004, Box 1

This series contains Dr. Hoy’s published books and articles, most of which discuss women religious orders in Chicago. Her works also cover topics related to women religious orders in Ireland and their immigration to the United States. Dr. Hoy’s book on cleanliness is also included in this series.

Series 2: Irish Immigration, 1810-2003, undated, Boxes 2-6

This series consists of research files regarding the immigration of Irish nuns to the United States. Materials include diaries, biographical files, newspaper articles, academic articles and theses, and organizational records from the various religious orders researched.

Subseries 2A: From Dublin to New Orleans, 1835-1996, undated, Box 2

This subseries contains research files used to write From Dublin to New Orleans: The Journey of Nora and Alice, a book that chronicles the journey of two Dominican sisters, Nora Prendiville and Alice Nolan, from their home in Ireland to their mission in the United States in 1899. Dr. Hoy based her research for this work on the diaries kept by both Nora and Alice during their journey and the collection includes copies of the diaries and research files regarding geographic locations, transatlantic voyages in the 19th century, and other nuns who immigrated to the United States in the 19th century.

Subseries 2B: “The Journey Out,” 1810-2003, undated, Boxes 2-6

This subseries consists of research files regarding Dr. Hoy’s article “The Journey Out: The Recruitment and Emigration of Irish Religious Women to the United States, 1812-1914” published in the Journal of Women’s History in 1995. Documents include correspondence, newspaper articles, academic articles, and organizational records pertaining to Irish women religious orders, immigration, and missions in the United States in the 19th century. Religious orders particularly represented include the Dominicans, Holy Faith Sisters, Sisters of Charity, Sisters of Mercy, Sisters of St. Joseph, Sisters of the Holy Cross, Sisters of the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament, Sisters of the Presentation, and Ursulines.

Series 3: Schools, 1837-2004, undated, Boxes 6-17

This series contains research files regarding Chicago Catholic schools operated by women religious orders. Dr. Hoy particularly examines how these schools addressed the problems of racial discrimination and poverty within Chicago in the 19th and 20th centuries. Materials include correspondence, newspaper articles, administrative records, biographical records, and academic articles.

Subseries 3A: Illinois Technical School for Colored Girls, 1883-2001, undated, Boxes 6-8

This subseries contains records used to write “Illinois Technical School for Colored Girls: A Catholic Institution on Chicago’s South Side, 1911-1953,” published in the Journal of Illinois History in 2001. The Religious of the Good Shepherd operated the Illinois Technical School for Colored Girls as an institution devoted to the education of orphan and impoverished African American girls. Materials include administrative records from the Illinois Technical School and the Chicago Industrial School, biographical records, newspaper articles, academic articles, and government reports.

Subseries 3B: Loretto Academy, 1893-2004, undated, Boxes 8-12

This subseries consists of research files used to write “No Color Line at Loretto Academy: Catholic Sisters and African Americans on Chicago’s East Side” published in the Journal of Women’s History in 2002. Loretto Academy was operated by the Institute of the Blessed Virgin Mary, also known as the Sisters of Loretto, for the education of African American girls in Chicago. Research on Catholic schools in Chicago and the rest of the United States are included as well as files on racial issues in Chicago and its school system. Materials include administrative records for Loretto Academy and Mercy High School, biographical records, newspaper articles, and academic articles.

Subseries 3C: Magdalen Institutions, 1837-2003, undated, Boxes 12-15

This subseries consists of research files used to write “Caring for Chicago’s Women and Girls: The Sisters of the Good Shepherd, 1859-1911” published in the Journal of Urban History in 1997. The Religious of the Good Shepherd operated the House of the Good Shepherd in Chicago as a preparatory school for orphan girls. Materials include administrative records for the House of the Good Shepherd, biographical records, newspaper articles, academic articles, and U.S. census data.

Subseries 3D: Our Lady of the Angels Fire, 1892-2004, undated, Boxes 16-17

This subseries consists of research files regarding the tragic fire at the Our Lady of the Angels School in 1958. Our Lady of the Angels was operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Dr. Hoy used her research on the fire for the article “Stunned with Sorrow” published in Chicago History in 2002. Materials include biographical files of some of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, particularly the three nuns who lost their lives in the fire. Other records include newspaper articles, academic articles, memories and commemorations of the fire and its victims, and information regarding the student survivors and victims of the fire.

Series 4: Social Changes, 1892-2006, undated, Boxes 17-23

This series consists of research files regarding the social changes that affected the lives and vocations of women religious orders in the 1960s. The records in this series discuss the changes enacted through Vatican II as well as the civil rights movement of the 1960s, particularly the effects within Chicago. Materials include academic articles, newspaper articles, biographical records, and administrative records.

Subseries 4A: Post-Vatican II, 1964-2006, undated, Box 17

This subseries consists of research files regarding the effects of Vatican II on women religious orders. Topics covered include feminism and liberation theology and the works and biographical records of Francis Borgia Rothluebber, S.S.S.F. Materials include academic articles, newspaper articles, and biographical records.

Subseries 4B: Racial Issues, 1892-2006, undated, Boxes 17-23

This subseries contains research files regarding the civil rights movement, particularly its effects in Chicago and the participation of women religious orders. A large portion of the records pertain to the Marillac House, an institution that is still operated by the Daughters of Charity in Chicago to serve impoverished families in the city. Other subjects covered include the Illinois Club for Catholic Women protest, Martin Luther King, Jr., Cabrini Green, and fair housing practices in Chicago. Racial issues in Chicago’s schools are also discussed with particular focus on Alvernia High School, St. Dorothy’s School, and Xavier High School. Materials include newspaper articles, academic articles and theses, biographical records, correspondence, organizational and administrative records, and interview transcripts.

Series 5: Women Religious Orders, 1843-2005, undated, Boxes 23-37

This series consists of research files regarding the various women religious orders studied by Dr. Hoy. Most of the records have been divided by religious order with materials consisting of correspondence, biographical records, administrative and organizational records, newspaper articles, and academic articles and theses.

Subseries 5A: General Information, 1848-2005, undated, Boxes 23-25

This subseries consists of research files regarding general issues that affected all women religious orders. Subjects include convent life, current issues, statistics, and nuns as teachers. Files on the Society of the Divine Word, the order of priests who operated St. Monica's and St. Elizabeth's Parishes with the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, Father Daniel J. Mallette, and Cardinal Mundelein are also included in this subseries. Materials include newspaper articles, biographical records, and organizational records.

Subseries 5B: Orders, 1843-2005, undated, Boxes 25-37

This subseries consists of research files regarding various women religious orders, particularly those located in Chicago. Records are divided by religious order and arranged alphabetically. Subjects covered primarily pertain to biographical information on individual nuns and administrative records regarding the order as a whole. Materials include newspaper articles, academic articles, biographical records, organizational and administrative records, brochures and pamphlets, and school and parish records.

Series 6: Photographs, 1850-2004, undated, Boxes 38-40

This series contains the photographs used by Dr. Hoy for her research and publication of her works on Catholic nuns. Most of the photographs portray nuns working in the Chicago area as well as Chicago Catholic parishes and schools. The images are primarily reprints, although a few original photographs are included as well, while some images are photocopies or printed scans of original photographs. A compact disc and several floppy disks also contain images. Postcards, greeting cards, and magazine ads are also included.

Series 7: Audiovisual Media, 1872-2002, undated, Boxes 41-43

This series contains audiocassettes, compact discs, slides, and videocassettes pertaining to Dr. Hoy's research on women religious orders. The audiocassettes consist primarily of interviews between Dr. Hoy and various nuns between 1996 and 2002. These audiocassettes have been digitized; see archivist for access. The compact discs are music recordings by or in honor of women religious. The slides are taken from the same images in the photographs series and thus include images of nuns in Chicago and area Catholic parishes and schools. The videocassettes include documentaries on women religious as well as popular movies about nuns.

Series 8: Restricted Material, Boxes 44-49

This series includes Dr. Hoy's personal correspondence and is restricted until 2030.

Description of the Addendum

This addendum to the Suellen Hoy Papers consists of 12 boxes, spanning the years 1870 to 2010. The collection consists of two major parts: biographical and research. The latter includes papers that document her work on two publications, Good Hearts: Catholic Sisters in Chicago's Past and Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years. The materials are arranged alphabetically by subject, and original order was maintained when possible.

Biographical History

See Finding Aid for Suellen Hoy, Ph.D. Papers. Subsequent to the processing of that collection, Dr. Hoy published Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years in 2010. Dr. Hoy lived in Seattle, Washington and worked as an independent scholar until her death on May 4, 2023.

Scope and Content

The Suellen Hoy, Ph.D., Papers Addendum 1 consists of research files pertaining to Dr. Hoy's publications of Good Hearts: Catholic Sisters in Chicago's Past and Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years. Many of the materials in this collection are copies of original documents located at other archival repositories and as a result the copyright for the materials resides with the original repository. Generally, the repository has marked the documents obtained from their archives by Dr. Hoy. Most of the materials are copies of newspaper articles and records held in other archives. The collection also includes a selection of photographs, compact discs, and slides. The materials are divided by subject and arranged alphabetically within series.

Series 1: Biographical Materials, 1956-2010, undated, Box 1

This series contains Dr. Hoy's diplomas, awards, and c.v.

Series 2: Research: General, 1995-2010, undated, Box 1

This series consists of general research files regarding women religious in the United States. Materials consist primarily of newspaper articles.

Subseries 2A: Good Hearts: Catholic Sisters in Chicago's Past, 1881-2010, undated, Boxes 2-3

This subseries contains research files used to write Good Hearts: Catholic Sisters in Chicago's Past, a book that traces the social and educational work of nuns in Chicago from 1846 to the 1960s. Her book is notable for its extensive primary source research and its successful correction of previous historiography that portrays American nuns as subject to a male-dominated hierarchy. Hoy argues instead that nuns in Chicago maintained their agency and forged new paths in aiding the less privileged of Chicago.

Series 2B: Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years, 1870-2010, undated, Boxes 3-10

This series contains research files used to write regarding Ellen Gates Starr: Her Later Years, a book that examines the life of Starr (1859-1940), an often overlooked individual who was vital to the formation and success of Hull House in Chicago. Inspired by her Catholic faith, Starr continued her labor reform work and writing about her conversion experience late into life despite partial paralysis.

Series 3: Audio/Visual Media, 2005-2008, undated, Box 10

This series contains photographs, compact discs and slides pertaining to Dr. Hoy's research on the two works described above. The compact discs include a musical recording, photographs of Ellen Gates Starr and Hull House, and research material from a researcher who also studied Starr. The slides are taken from the same images in the photographs series and thus include images of Ellen Gates Starr and Hull House.

Series 4: Other Publications, 1977-2006, undated, Box 10

This series contains publications that pertain to Dr. Hoy's research on the two works described above.

Series 5: Restricted Material, Boxes 11-12

This series is restricted until 2035.

Description of the Addendum

See Finding Aid for Suellen Hoy, Ph.D. Papers (April 2008) and its addendum (April 2011) for this information. Following the processing of Suellen Hoy, PhD, Papers and its Addendum #1, Suellen Hoy donated three additional boxes of materials drawn from #WLA2011.56, #WLA2012.19, #WLA2012.32, and #WLA2014.13, that contain materials relating to her research, publications, public appearances, and social engagements.

Scope and Content

The Suellen Hoy, Ph.D., Papers Addendum 2 consists of biographical documents, research files, and materials and documents relating to her attendance at conferences, lectures, and celebrations. Additional materials relate to her publications and include notes, rough drafts, and published works.

Series 1: Biographical, 1991-2013, undated, Boxes 1

Contains materials relating to Dr. Suellen Hoy's career as a historian.; these materials include a recent resume, business card, and photograph from 2013 and material from her time in Ireland as a Visiting Professor at University College in 1991-1992.

Series 2: Research, 1993-2013, undated, Boxes 1-3

Materials in this series relate to the research undertaken by Dr. Hoy between 1991 and 2013. Subjects include women religious, birth control, child labor, and welfare. While nearly half of the files in the research series are topical files, the other half are files that highlight the work of historical figures such as Jane Addams, Ellen Gates Starr, Sophonisba Breckenridge, Alice Hamilton, and Frances Crane-Lillie. Materials consist primarily of newspaper and print articles as well as online material. There is additional audio and visual material relating to her research in series 5. This series also includes correspondence relevant to research.

Series 3: Public Lectures, Conferences, and Celebrations, 2004-2013, Box 3

This series contains materials from various history lectures and conferences attended by Dr. Hoy. Events include the Conference on the History of Women Religious and the Women's History Association of Ireland as well as some hosted by Loyola University Chicago. Materials include conference brochures and handouts, lecture notes, and travel information.

Series 4: Publication Materials, 1982-2013, Box 3

Items in this series pertain to publications by Dr. Hoy as well as one by historian Walter Nugent, her husband. Included in these files are also rough drafts, research materials, and correspondence relating to the various published works. Additional papers include autographs and dedications; comprised of torn out first pages of monographs and photocopies of title pages, these materials are dedicated to Dr. Hoy.

Series 5: Audio/Visual Media, 2009-2011, undated, Box 4

This series includes a 5" by 7" mixed-media collaged artwork titled Cook Sisters. It also contains folders of scanned and printed photographs of Ellen Gates Starr and various Hull House associates. Additional material includes two videos, in the form of CD-ROMs. An additional CD-ROM is comprised of scanned photographs.

Series 6: Restricted Material, Box 5

This series includes Dr. Hoy's personal correspondence and is restricted until 2039.
