

SECOND IN A SERIES OF THREE SPEAKERS

Gender, Work, & Family Speaker Series

MCCORMICK LOUNGE, COFFEY HALL, LSC

THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 2012 4:00 PM

RECEPTION WITH LIGHT REFRESHMENTS AT 5PM

Dr. Alice Eagly
Ph.D.

eagly.socialpsychology.org

“Women as Leaders: Negotiating the Labyrinth”

Dr. Alice Eagly’s research focuses on attitudes, gender, prejudice, and organizational behavior. Specifically, she examines gender differences and similarities in various domains including leadership, aggression, prosocial behavior, and sociopolitical attitudes. Dr. Eagly was recently awarded the Distinguished Scientific Contribution Award from the American Psychological Association. She has also authored several books on attitudes, social role theory, and, most recently, gender and leadership. Her latest book is entitled Through the Labyrinth: The Truth about How Women Become Leaders.

Sponsored by:

Department of Psychology Committee on Diversity Affairs (CODA), College of Arts and Science, Gannon Center for Women & Leadership, and Women Studies & Gender Studies