Your recommenders must be familiar with your academic or professional performance and provide letters in support of your application. Please provide your recommenders with an overview of the LL.M. degree program and instruct them to specifically address your critical thinking skills and your aptitude for undertaking graduate legal studies. The letters must be sent directly from the writers to the Office of Graduate Legal Studies using the enclosed sheet entitled LL.M. Applicant Recommendation Form. The LL.M. Admission Committee may also contact your recommenders via telephone or e-mail should it need further clarification of the recommendation.

NAME OF RECOMMENDER	TITLE	COMPANY/ORGANIZATION	CITY/STATE	TELEPHONE	E-MAIL

- 2) LL.M. Applicant Recommendation Form: Complete and submit the enclosed LL.M. Applicant Recommendation Form (provided at the end of this application) to each recommender.

Section IV: Personal Statement

- 1) In 1 to 2 typed pages, state your reasons for applying to the LL.M. degree program and choosing to concentrate your study in business law, child and family law, health law and policy, or tax law. Also, discuss how you anticipate using this education in your career. Include your name on this document and entitle it "Personal Statement".
- 2) Provide any additional information you believe relevant to the assessment of your application.

Section V: International Applicants (only)

- 1) Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) Score: You are required to submit with your application TOEFL examination results if you are a citizen of a country other than the United States or a permanent resident in the U.S., have or will be getting a visa to study in the U.S. and come from a country that does not have English as one of its official languages. You are exempt from taking the TOEFL if you are a citizen of a country other than the U.S. and your country of citizenship has English as its native language. To be admitted into Loyola's LL.M. degree program, international applicants must be proficient in English, as demonstrated by a sufficient TOEFL score. The LL.M. Admission Committee generally requires a TOEFL score of between 600 - 630 (PBT ~ paper-based), between 250 - 267 (CBT ~ computer-based), and 100 - 109 (iBT ~ internet-based) for admission. Scores submitted in support of your application can be no more than two years old and must be sent directly to the Office of Graduate Legal Studies from the Education Testing Service (ETS).

For those international applicants who may have completed coursework in the U.S. or who have worked in a position that required proficiency in English, the requirement to submit TOEFL examination scores may be waived at the discretion of the LL.M. Admission Committee. Under these circumstances and circumstances where one has not met the generally required TOEFL scores, the LL.M. Admission Committee may require the applicant to sit for either the Test of English for Loyola Admission (TELA) or the Graduate Student English Assessment offered through Loyola University Chicago's Office of International Programs (www.luc.edu/oip/). You may receive more information on the TOEFL examination and scoring at www.toefl.org.

- 2) Additional Requirement: All applicants who received their undergraduate degree or law degree from institutions outside of the United States must have their academic credentials and academic transcripts evaluated. A complete course-by-course report of the evaluation must be sent directly to the Office of Graduate Legal Studies. The law school recognizes evaluations from:

Educational Credential Evaluators, Inc. (ECE)
