

COME WALK IN MY SHOES

A VIDEO/ACTION PRODUCTION
WRITTEN AND DIRECTED BY ROBIN SMITH

The Honorable John R. Lewis (D-GA) leads colleagues from the House and Senate on an emotional pilgrimage to sacred sites of the Civil Rights Movement in Alabama. The journey begins in Montgomery where an 18-year-old Lewis first met Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and ends in Selma on the Edmund Pettus Bridge where the future congressman was brutally beaten as he led a march for the right to vote.

Along the way we are introduced to some of Lewis's friends who, as he puts it, are among the "unsung heroes who cared deeply, sacrificed much, and fought hard for a better America."

Archival film, historic photographs, and music recorded at mass meetings vividly bring the personal recollections to life.

Primary funding provided by The Chrysler Foundation and Daimler North America with major additional support from Freddie Mac, Mortgage Insurance Companies of America and The Nathan Cummings Foundation.

Come Walk in My Shoes is a presentation of WHUT. American Public Television is the exclusive distributor of this program to U.S. public broadcasting stations.

To learn more, visit www.videoaction.org

Running Time 56:46 Minutes

©2007 Video Action, Inc. All rights reserved.