

Database Course Approval Form

Instructions to Students: After searching the on-line Study Abroad Course Approval Database, write down on this form all the courses from the database that you plan to take abroad and whether you'd like them to count toward your major, minor or core curriculum requirements. If you wish, bring the form to OIP for a Loyola credit hour equivalency evaluation of your courses. Return completed original forms to the Office of International Programs, keep a copy for yourself, and bring a copy to your academic advisor. (Note: this should be your advisor in your school or college, not your advisor for your major.)

Note: Final confirmation of all course approvals will be dependent upon departmental limitations regarding number of courses completed off-campus that may apply toward major/minor requirements. After course completion, approved courses will also be subject to college regulations regarding minimum satisfactory grades required for courses to count toward specific degree requirements. Contact the Loyola school or department for more information on these policies.
