

Unity in Diversity Partnership Grant Application
Loyola University Chicago
Division of Student Affairs

Unity in Diversity Partnership Grants are special funds provided through the Unity in Diversity Fund to encourage excellence among Loyola University Chicago faculty in their multicultural teaching endeavors.

The Unity in Diversity Fund, originally named the Arrupe-King Fund, was established in honor of Rev. Pedro Arrupe, S.J., and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. The Unity in Diversity Fund is intended to support events, programs, and activities, which specifically address social justice and human diversity programming for all segments of the Loyola University community (students, faculty, and staff).

Faculty members can apply for grants to fund course design or enhancement, or team teaching that integrates multicultural content across the curriculum. Grants may include new multicultural course development and course enhancement with special emphasis on diversity as a Core Values Across the Curriculum requirement.

All requests for Partnership Grants will be reviewed by an established committee who will make recommendations to the staff members of the Office of Student Diversity who have the final approval in the allocation of funds.

Funding will be considered for initiatives which meet the following criteria:

- Initiatives must address multicultural content across the curriculum.
- Initiatives must complement learning objectives from course offerings.
- Initiatives should attempt to be collaborative in nature, involving all those who might benefit from its individual purposes.

General Guidelines:

1. All funding requests should be made by the specified date.
2. Any and all publicity must indicate clearly that the event or activity was sponsored all, or in part, by the Unity in Diversity Fund.
3. If the request is funded, departments and organizations must complete an evaluation within 10 days of the event or activity. Failure to return the complete evaluation may jeopardize future funding requests.
4. Applicants should not apply for Partnership Grants for initiatives that traditionally are funded through individual departments
