Preparing people to lead extraordinary lives

For full consideration, attach a cover letter and current resume. The cover letter should include a description of any previous experiences which may have prepared you to be a graduate assistant, e.g. working as an undergraduate or masters-level student as part of a faculty member's research team, having an assistantship in a master's program. Also state any specific skills you have that would be helpful in an assistantship, e.g., computer skills, library research skills.
