

Welcome to "ITS Technology Tips," where we bring you some useful information about the technology here at Loyola and effective ways to use the technology. Please drop us a line at Training@luc.edu to let us know what you think or to send us topic ideas for future technology tips. Here is this week's technology tip.

Tech Tips RSS Feed

Now you can automatically receive Loyola's weekly Technology Tips by subscribing to the Tech Tips RSS News Feed. When you subscribe to the feed using your Web browser or a Web-based feed reader such as Bloglines or Google Reader, you will get the most recent Tech Tip delivered to you each week. The benefit of a feed subscription is that you can receive the most up to date information without having to remember to visit the Tech Tips page.

How to Subscribe to the Tech Tips RSS Feed

Go to the Tech Tips page and click on the RSS feed button on the upper portion of the page:

Once you click on the RSS feed button, if you are using the latest versions of the following Web browsers: Internet Explorer 7, Firefox 2.0 or Safari 2.0, you will be prompted with the option to subscribe within your Web browser. Your feed subscription will show up similar to a bookmark. You can also cut and paste the URL of the Tech Tips page into your favorite Web-based feed reader. Complete instructions are provided on how to subscribe to feeds using your Web browser in this previous Loyola tech tip:

You may also use a Web-based feed reader such as Bloglines to subscribe to RSS feeds as well as search for other websites that offer feeds. The most convenient feature of Bloglines is that you can login from any computer or mobile device to access all of your subscriptions. Read more about Bloglines in this previous Loyola tech tip:
