PROGRAM

JUNE 23 – JULY 21, 2012

30TH ANNUAL ROME
PROGRAM 2012

“All roads lead to Rome.”

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW Rome Study Law Abroad Program 2012

As the seat of power under Roman emperors, later the Papacy, and currently the capital of modern Italy, Rome displays its rich and varied history on every street and in every piazza. The Colosseum, the Pantheon, the Spanish Steps, the Trevi Fountain, the Tiber River, the Roman Forum, the Vatican – the splendors of Rome await the visitor. Rome today is the seat of the Italian government and is the site of offices of the European Union and other international institutions, as well as the offices of private law firms, banks and corporations. Loyola's Study Abroad Program will take advantage of these facilities and institutions to introduce students to the study and practice of law in a foreign culture. It is expected that this introduction to comparative and international law will give students a deeper understanding of their own legal culture.

Loyola Rome Center Campus John Felice Rome Center

Loyola has operated the Rome Center of Liberal Arts since 1962. The present campus, used since 1978, is located on Monte Mario, the highest hill in present-day Rome, about twenty minutes from downtown Rome by public transportation. The landscaped campus contains classrooms, a library, student dormitories, faculty and administrative offices, a chapel, a cafeteria, recreation and exercise rooms, a coffee bar, and a basketball court. For more information about the Rome Center campus, visit the Loyola University Rome Center website at www.luc.edu/rome/.

CURRICULUM

Comparative Health Law and Bioethics (Sawicki)

The field of health law offers a fascinating platform from which to compare foreign legal systems. By understanding the wide variation in how different nations approach controversial issues of health law and bioethics, students will develop the skills necessary to critically evaluate their own countries' policies from an international perspective. Topics may include constitutional rights to health care, state protection of medical information, assisted reproduction, end of life care, human subjects research, public health, and intellectual property.

Comparative Criminal Procedure (Carey)

Comparative Criminal Procedure is taught by Professor James P. Carey, and focuses on the salient points of comparison between the American adversarial system of criminal justice and the European civil law tradition, historically called an inquisitorial system. These points of comparison include the role of the judge/magistrate; the prosecutor's role and plea bargaining, the role of defense counsel, the role of evidentiary and constitutional rules of exclusion of evidence, and, as an example of the substantive criminal law, the law of rape. Course materials include a short, thoughtful critique of the American system, "Trials without Truth", by Professor William Pizzi of the University of Colorado; and a course pack of law review articles. The format is a mixture of lecture and class room discussion, including role play exercises in witness examination and argument, at trial and at motions to suppress. Three Italian guest lecturers are expected to participate as in the past: a prominent magistrate; a defense lawyer/law professor, and a prominent literature/film scholar whose focus will be on the current status of women in Italian society (relevant to our consideration of the law of rape).

Comparative Law: The Development of the Common Law (Faught)

Comparative Law: The Development of the Common Law is a one-credit course that will expose students to the early development of the common law from the early Saxon period to the 17th Century revolution in English law and society. Building on that, the course will cover such topics as the evolution of the legal profession, the history of the law of equity, the origins of the common law jury and the adversary trial, and modern legal professions and practices. The goal of the course is to develop a broad historical perspective on the development of law, the practice of law and the legal profession with an emphasis on the English tradition.

Comparative Law: Issues and Perspectives on Domestic Violence (Weinberg)

This course will examine the dynamics of domestic violence and compare and critique how different countries' laws recognize and respond to the problem. The course also will explore the theoretical frameworks for understanding domestic violence as a violation of international human rights and the role and responsibility of governments to respond to the problem.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW
Rome Study Law Abroad Program 2012

Comparative Law: Introduction to the Civil Law Tradition (McCormack)

This course covers the foundations of the civil law tradition. It includes Roman law and its rediscovery in Bologna in Medieval times, the development of the jus commune, the appearance of national legal systems in Europe, the codification movement and the spread of the civil law tradition throughout the world. It concludes with a focus on modern civil law legal professions, structures and institutions using the Italian legal system as a model.

Comparative Products Liability (Lasso)

Comparative Products Liability, taught by Rogelio Lasso, will use products liability as the vehicle to learn comparative law in general, and, in particular, to learn about how product-related harms are dealt with in the U.S., EU, the UK, and Italy. The course will include an Introduction to Products Liability & Safety Law but will also analyze Products Liability Law in the U.S. prior to section 402A of the Restatement and in the EU, UK, and Italy prior to the EU Products Liability Directive; the Adoption of Strict Liability in the U.S. and Europe; Strict Liability in Europe after the Directive; some Basic Rules under the 402a, the EU Directive, the CPA & Italian Law; and finally, a discussion of The Future of Products Liability and Safety.

International Human Rights Adjudication in Criminal Tribunals (Caldwell)

This course is a seminar designed to examine a variety of questions regarding the historical development of international human rights, international criminal law and the more recent creation of international criminal tribunals, particularly the new International Criminal court. The course will focus on such topics as genocide, torture, crimes against humanity, war crimes, waging aggressive war, and terrorism, post 1945.

Comparative Education Research Practicum (Kaufman)

This unique course will immerse students in a comparative analysis of early education law and policy in Italy and the United States. The specific focus of the class will be the world- renowned approach to preschool education developed in Reggio Emilia in northern Italy. The preschools in Reggio Emilia are widely regarded as the best in the world. The “Reggio” approach to early education is built on a particular understanding of the biological and social nature of children, and the role of the state in developing its young. Accordingly, the class will begin with an exploration of the neuro-science undergirding the Reggio approach and how this science informs: educational objectives and methods; the architecture of the educational environment, the connections between school and community and the legal and political structures surrounding children. Throughout the class, the “Reggio” approach will serve as a benchmark for understanding and assessing the law and policy of early childhood education in the United States. The class is one-credit. Students will be required to participate actively in class exercises and projects, and to write a 10-15 page analytical or research paper that addresses any issue raised by the class.

NOTE: this course is available as a 5th credit and only to Loyola University Chicago students because it continues as a research practicum in Chicago after the program. Non-Loyola students are welcome to sit in on the lectures.

FACULTY

Laura Caldwell, B.A., University of Iowa, 1989; J.D., Loyola University Chicago, 1992

Professor Caldwell graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of Iowa and earned her J.D. from Loyola University Chicago in 1992. Following graduation, she was employed by the Chicago law firm of Clausen Miller, where she litigated in the areas of medical malpractice, insurance defense and entertainment law. She subsequently worked for Bresler Harvick & Glenn and later for Worker & Power, where she was elected partner. She has been published in a variety of legal and mainstream publications, including Chicago Magazine, Lake Magazine, Woman's Own, Northern Illinois University Law Review and The Young Lawyer. She is the also author of twelve novels, as well as a non-fiction book, Long Way Home: A Young Man Lost in the Legal System and the Two Women Who Found Him. Laura is currently a Distinguished Scholar of Residence and the Director of Life After Innocence, a program designed to assist Illinois exonerees--people who have been wrongfully convicted and later declared innocent. She is the recipient of the 2007 St. Robert Bellarmine Award, given to alumni who have distinguished themselves by their contributions to the profession and the School of Law. LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW
Rome Study Law Abroad Program 2012

James P. Carey - B.A., cum laude, Holy Cross, 1965;
J.D., University of Chicago, 1968

Professor James P. Carey is director of the Advocacy Center, Loyola University Chicago School of Law. He teaches evidence, criminal law, criminal procedure, comparative criminal procedure and trial advocacy. Before coming to Loyola, Professor Carey served 10 years as an assistant Cook County (Chicago) Public Defender, where he was a member of the homicide task force and a supervisor in the Maybrook court center. He is a faculty member of the National Institute for Trial Advocacy, and serves as the program director of the Midwest Regional Trial Skills Program for NITA. He won the Oliphant award for service to NITA in 2005. He is a former member of the Board of Managers of the Chicago Bar Association, and is presently a member of the Board of Directors of the Chicago Bar Foundation. He has taught comparative criminal procedure in the Rome summer program seven times starting in 1997. He also teaches in Loyola's exchange program with Hurtado Jesuit University, Santiago, Chile, where his focus is on criminal procedure and trial advocacy.

James J. Faught, B.A., Notre Dame, 1971; J.D., Loyola Chicago, 1976

Dean Faught practiced law in a small Chicago firm for three years before returning to Loyola, where he earned his law degree, to become a member of the administration in 1979. As associate dean for administration, he oversees the general operation of the School of Law including admissions, registration, and career resources. He has served on a number of professional committees including the Illinois State Bar Association Standing Committee on Legal Education, Admission and Competence as chair; various Law School Admission Council Committees; the Illinois State Bar Association Committee on Liaison with the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission; and the Lawyers' Assistance Program of Illinois. In 2004, Dean Faught was appointed to the Illinois Executive Ethics Commission. He has published articles on the status of women in law schools and on controversial student organizations. Dean Faught is the director of Loyola's Externship Program, and he is the founder and director of the London Comparative Advocacy Program.

Michael Kaufman -B.A., magna cum laude, Kenyon, 1980
M.A., Michigan, 1983 J.D., Michigan

Dean Kaufman has published dozens of books and countless law review articles in the areas of his expertise, including education law and policy, securities regulation and litigation, civil procedure and jurisprudence. After law school, he clerked for the Honorable Nathaniel R. Jones of the United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit and then practiced securities and civil rights litigation in one of the world's largest law firms. Dean Kaufman also was elected to three terms on the Board of Education of a large, diverse school district in the Chicago area, serving as the Board's President and Vice-President. Dean Kaufman's wife, Sherry Kaufman, will assist with the instruction of the course.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW
Rome Study Law Abroad Program 2012

Rogelio Lasso - B.S. magna cum laude, Mankato State University; J.D., University of Minnesota

Before enrolling in law school, Rogelio Lasso had a background in chemistry, worked as a research scientist for Pillsbury, as an entrepreneur, and as a consultant for American companies in Latin America. After obtaining his J.D. degree, he was in private practice with two Chicago law firms where he litigated cases ranging from medical malpractice and products liability to breach of contract and patent infringement. His book, Products Liability and Safety: an American and Comparative Approach, has recently been accepted for publication. He is a frequent speaker at conferences, often on the topic of technology and affirmative action. Professor Lasso is currently a member of the faculty at John Marshall Law School, teaching torts, products liability, and complex litigation.

John L. McCormack - B.S., Wisconsin, 1964; J.D., Wisconsin, 1968

Professor McCormack was the articles editor of the Wisconsin Law Review and later served as law clerk to the Hon. Thomas E. Fairchild of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. He practiced with the Chicago firm of Sidley & Austin until he joined the Loyola faculty in 1971. He is the leading American expert on the Torrens System of title registration. He has conducted a series of seminars on zoning litigation, environmental law, landlord-tenant and mortgage foreclosures for the Illinois Judicial Conference.

Nadia N. Sawicki - B.A. magna cum laude, Brown University, 2000; M. Bioethics, University of Pennsylvania

School of Medicine, 2004; J.D. cum laude, University of Pennsylvania Law School, 2004

Professor Sawicki has published in both traditional law reviews and in peer-reviewed journals on a variety of topics, including professional discipline by state medical boards, the use of tort law as an incentive for appropriate medical treatment in end-of-life and reproductive care, and the medical community's role in supporting public health efforts. In 2008, she was recognized as an emerging health law scholar by the American Society for Law, Medicine, and Ethics, which selected her working paper, A Theory of Discipline for Professional Misconduct, as one of four to be presented at the annual Health Law Scholars Workshop. Professor Sawicki regularly presents her work at law faculty workshops throughout the country, and at the annual conferences of the American Society for Law, Medicine, and Ethics and the American Society for Bioethics and the Humanities. She serves as a member of the editorial board for the MIT Press "Basic Bioethics" Series. Her research has also informed public policy; in 2006, she co-authored a white paper for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services providing an ethical analysis of state paternity disestablishment policies.

Allen S. Shoenberger, B.A., Swathmore, 1966; J.D., Columbia College, 1969; LL.M., New York University, 1972

After graduation from law school, Professor Shoenberger served as a visiting lecturer at the University Of Nairobi, Kenya from 1969-1971; he was the assistant editor of the East African Law Reports and an International Legal Center Fellow during that period. He was also a Ford Urban Law Fellow in 1971-72, as well as a National Science Foundation Fellow to the Seminar in Social Science Methods in Legal Education in 1972. He has been a hearing officer for the Illinois Pollution Control Board. He has served as a consultant for the Administrative Conference of the United States on disability law, as well as for other agencies and groups, often in various areas regarding the rights of the disabled with particular attention to educational rights. He has also supervised the appellate practicum program, which represents prisoners on court appointment before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit as well as before the U.S. Supreme Court. Professor Shoenberger has served on the law faculty since 1971. Additionally, he has received joint appointments with Loyola's Schools of Social Work and Medicine.

Anita Weinberg - B.A., Michigan, 1974; M.S.S.W., Columbia, 1977; J.D., Loyola Chicago, 1986

Anita Weinberg has worked on behalf of children and families for 30 years as an attorney and as a social worker. Currently she is Clinical Professor, and Director of the ChildLaw Policy Institute at Loyola's School of Law. Professor Weinberg teaches courses in legislative advocacy, domestic violence, and children's "best interests." She involves students in interdisciplinary policy and legislative projects in the areas of child welfare and health.

OPTIONAL FIELD STUDY — STRASBOURG, FRANCE

Students who take a Comparative Law Course in Rome are eligible to continue with a one-week field-study program in Strasbourg, France, focusing on the European Legal Institutions. Students who take this field study component will receive one additional credit for the European Union Law Course. The field study runs from July 22 – July 31, 2012.

Field Study Tours of European Legal Institutions

The field study in Strasbourg will include tours of several legal institutions and some academic lectures. The legal institutions for this field study will include: The Council of Europe; The European Court of Human Rights; The European Parliament of the European Union; and additionally, a field trip to Luxembourg to visit The Court of Justice of the European Union.

Strasbourg, a city that has flown many flags as once part of Germany and now a part of France, lies in the beautiful Alsace-Lorraine area of central Europe. The city includes a navigable canal system, many beautiful parks and university grounds, and a magnificent Gothic cathedral. The Council of Europe is seated in Strasbourg, an affiliation of most European countries. The European Court of Human Rights, a tribunal of the Council of Europe, is located on the same grounds, along with the magnificent new European Parliament Building of the European Union.

Luxembourg, an important banking city of the world due to the neutrality of the country of Luxembourg, is also well known as the site of many of the European Union institutions. For our purposes we will concentrate on the European Court of Justice of the European Union which is located in Luxembourg. This charming walled city is the seat of the Luxembourg government and the home of its royalty, the Duke and Duchess.

Lecture Component

European Legal Institutions: EU Law (Shoenberger) - 1 credit

Professor Shoenberger will provide an overview of the European Legal Institutions, with particular attention to the European Union, the European Court of Justice and the Court of First Instance of the EU, and the European Court of Human Rights of the Council of Europe. Various lectures in Rome may introduce students to these complex institutions. In Strasbourg, and Luxembourg, he will supplement field tours to the various institutions, including the Parliament of the European Union, with lectures and comments. Topics will include free trade in goods and services in the EU, privacy law in the EU, and EU antitrust law (which have recently resulted in large fines for major American corporations such as Microsoft) about the courts and of the European Union and the Council of Europe.

HOUSING

All single students can be accommodated in the dormitory of the Rome Center Campus. Students accompanied by a spouse or family must live off campus. All dormitory rooms are double rooms with shared washroom facilities on each floor. Students may indicate a choice of roommate; otherwise, a roommate will be assigned. No overnight guests are permitted on campus. The cost per person in a double room is $1500 for the four weeks of the program (from June 23 to July 21). The price includes Internet access to e-mail for the duration of your stay in Rome. The full amount of housing cost must be paid no later than April 2, 2012.

Students participating in the optional field study will be accommodated at Ciarus in Strasbourg, an international student facility affiliated with the YMCA. The modern complex provides double occupancy rooms with en suite bathroom facilities, and includes daily a continental breakfast and lunch. In Luxembourg, students will stay in a modern hotel

GENERAL INFORMATION

Loyola University Chicago

Founded in 1870, Loyola University Chicago is the oldest university in the City of Chicago. The school of law admitted its first class in 1908 and has been accredited by the American Bar Association since 1925. Loyola University Chicago is the largest Jesuit university in the United States.

Administration

Jean M. Gaspardo, B.S., Wisconsin; M.B.A., J.D., Loyola-Chicago. Dean Gaspardo served in the capacity of Director of Student Services for Loyola from 1993 – 1999, and as assistant dean from 1999 to the present. Her current responsibilities as Dean of Students and Law Programs include: Director of Study Law Abroad Programs in Rome, Strasbourg and Beijing; Associate Director of Appellate Advocacy Honors Program; and assisting with the general administration of the law school. Dean Gaspardo has an extensive background in small business and world travel. She speaks fluent Italian and can also communicate in Spanish and French. Dean Gaspardo has accompanied the summer abroad programs continuously since 1991.

Registration

To register, on or after December 1, fill out the application form online and mail the non-refundable application fee for each program to which you apply ($500 for Rome, $750 with field study) to the address indicated. The application fee will be credited toward your activity fee.

In addition, after completion of your first semester, non-Loyola University Chicago students should direct their registrar to mail a Letter of Good Standing to the same address stating that you have successfully completed at least your first semester course work with a 2.0 or better (on a 4.0 scale) and have completed or are currently enrolled in the second semester of first year law school.

Registration via LOCUS on-line is March 1 - 14, 2012. Students must register for a minimum of four (4) credit hours per program. A non-refundable deposit is required at the time of application submission. All tuition, fees and housing costs for the program must be paid in full by April 2, 2012.

Space is limited, apply early. Only 50 students will be accepted into the Rome Program. Many years the Rome Program fills up immediately!

Please note: Except in the event of the cancellation of the 2012 program or of any particular course, no tuition can be refunded after April 16, 2012. Students who withdraw from a course after that date cannot receive a refund of tuition. ABA standards on U.S. State Department Consular Information regarding “Areas of Instability” and Travel Warnings in those counties where programs are held will govern program cancellation.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW
Rome Study Law Abroad Program 2012

Eligibility

Any student in good standing at an ABA accredited United States or Canadian law school that has successfully completed at least one year of legal study is eligible to participate. Last year our program enrolled 29 students, 22 of whom were from Loyola Chicago and 7 from 3 other law schools.

Credit & Grades

The 2012 Study Law Abroad Program is offered as part of the fully accredited curriculum of Loyola University Chicago School of Law. The program is also fully accredited by the ABA as an approved foreign summer program. Participating non-Loyola students are responsible for securing approval of their own school to transfer credit. Grades for courses will be earned and awarded in increments of A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, C-, D, F; grades will be determined by a written examination and/or paper(s) at the discretion of the instructor. Acceptance of any credit or grade for any course taken in the program is subject to determination by the student's home school. It is unlikely that participation in foreign summer programs may be used to accelerate graduation. A student interested in acceleration of graduation should discuss this issue with his/her school officials in light of ABA Standard 305, Interpretation 4.

Non-Loyola Students are responsible for requesting a transcript of grades, which will be available in early October by sending a written request for transcript to:

Loyola University Chicago
Records and Registration
820 N. Michigan Ave., Room 504
Chicago, IL 60611

OR an on-line request by going to the following website form:
