Cubs and Sox and Bears! Oh My!

AIDS Run/Walk a Success!

The Health Law Society would like to thank all of you who gave back to the community by making donations or participating in the AIDS Run & Walk Chicago 2008. The Health Law Society bake sale raised hundreds of dollars for the cause. In addition, several law students ran or walked at the event with Team Loyola. The AIDS Run & Walk was a tremendous success. In total, 900 Loyola undergraduate and graduate students registered for the AIDS Run & Walk, raising more than $23,000 for the cause. Team Loyola also won every competition including: largest team, fastest running team, most team spirit, and best team t-shirt. Loyola's contribution and commitment helps demonstrate what it means to be women and men for others!

Career and Externship Panel

You're invited to join the Beazley Institute on Tuesday, October 7th from 6:00-7:30pm in Kasbeer Hall for an evening of informed discussion about what to do with a degree in health law, how to use your degree, where to find work and health law externship placement and opportunities. Please RSVP to health-law@luc.edu if you plan to attend. More information, including panel members and specific topic focus coming soon!

Whistleblower Actions Event

Join the Institute on Wednesday, October 15th as attorney Steven Cohen of the Cohen Law Group speaks about whistleblower actions in health law. Mr. Cohen recently brought a successful qui tam action against a pharmaceutical company. He will speak about his experiences and discuss trends in qui tam lawsuits. This event will take place from 12:00-1:00p.m. in room 303 of the Law School. Attendance at this event will count towards a health law certificate for JD students. Feel free to bring your lunch! See you then!

Transaction Case Study—Nov. 1

Join the Beazley Institute on Saturday, November 1 for our first-ever Transactional Case Study presented by Drinker Biddle & Reath LLP. Attorneys from Drinker Biddle will walk students through a transaction and students will work in groups to generate proposals for different aspects of "the deal." This will be a great opportunity to work directly with some of Chicago's leading health lawyers. The study will be held from 9:00a.m.-1:00p.m. in room 106 and lunch will be served. RSVP to health-law@luc.edu.

Health Law Writing Contests

Don't miss the opportunity to win cash prizes for your writing! The American College of Legal Medicine's annual writing competitions in health law are now accepting submissions. The Hoffman Bioethics contest offers and first place cash prize of $1000, as does the Student Writing Competition in Legal Writing. The Legal Writing competition awards the Letourneau Award to an outstanding paper by a law student. The submission deadline for both contests is January 9, 2009. Visit www.aclm.org for complete details.

Student Curriculum Committee

The Beazley Institute is looking for students interested in being a part of a student health law curriculum review committee. The purpose of the committee is to provide the Institute with input on some proposed health law curriculum modifications and enhancements. Committee members will be asked to attend two-three meetings this year; one meeting this fall and either one or two in the spring. Interested students, please contact Institute Assistant Director Megan Bess at mbess@luc.edu.
