Newberry Library Undergraduate Seminar, Loyola University Chicago

APPLICATION

Name____________________________________ Loyola ID#_____________________

Signature ____________________________ Date _________________________

Current Address _____________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________

Current Phone _______________________ E-mail __________________________

Permanent Address__________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________

LUC year ____________ Total Credit Hours (by Jan. 2016) _______________

Major _____________ G.P.A. _____________ G.P.A. in major __________

The Newberry Library Undergraduate Seminar allows undergraduates to combine an intensive classroom experience with an independent research project. The six-credit seminar will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:00-5:00 p.m. from January 17 to May 4, 2017. Students and faculty will explore first-hand the Newberry’s matchless collections of materials on the history and culture of Europe and the Americas. Students will be expected to spend significant additional time working in the Newberry’s collections. With this in mind, please answer the following question in 250-500 words:

Why do you want to participate in the Newberry Library Undergraduate Seminar? Describe your research experiences. What kinds of research papers have you written, and how long have they been? What grade did you receive on those essays? Have you had research experience outside of class, e.g., at work? Please name two Loyola professors who can attest to your research skills.

Submit this form by e-mail along with a copy of a recent paper and a copy of your most recent Loyola University transcript to Dr. Jeffrey Glover at jglover@luc.edu by 12:00 noon on November 4, 2016. Participants will be selected and notified by November 7, before the pre-registration period.