Building Healthy Relationships in College

Everyone deserves to have healthy dating relationships. Relationships aren’t always easy, but there is never an excuse for violence in a relationship. Healthy relationships are built on a foundation of respect. Knowing the signs of healthy and unhealthy relationships can help you in building new relationships in college.

Dating violence is very common among college students and can happen in heterosexual and same-sex relationships. In fact, 1 in 5 college women will experience violence in a relationship during college*. If you feel unsafe in a relationship, help is available both on and off campus. Healthy relationships are based on the following to create a nurturing and loving environment:

| Mutual Respect | • Listening non-judgmentally
|                | • Valuing each other’s opinions
| Separate Identities | • Having friends outside the relationship
|                   | • Exploring your individual identities
| Trust and Support | • Respecting each other’s personal space and time
|                   | • Overcoming issues of jealousy and resentment
| Good Communication | • Being honest with your feelings to yourself and your partner
|                   | • Communicating openly and truthfully
| Honesty | • Accepting responsibility for yourself
| Forgiveness | • Forgiving past mistakes
|                   | • Admitting your own mistakes and apologizing
| Fairness and Equality | • Being willing to compromise
| Fighting Fair | • Listening to each other
|                   | • Not assuming things
|                   | • Not criticizing each other

Unhealthy or abusive relationships often use the following to gain power and control:

| Isolation | • Controlling where you go and who you see
|           | • Making you believe they are the only one who cares about you
|           | • Limiting activities outside the relationship
| Threats | • Making threats to hurt you, family, friends, belongings, or pets
|         | • Threatening to leave or commit suicide
| Intimidation | • Making you afraid to use certain looks, actions or gestures
| Forcible Sex | • Manipulating or making threats in order to get sex
|           | • Getting you drunk or drugging you to get sex
| Physical and/or Emotional Abuse | • Hitting, pushing, slapping or kicking you
| Minimizing and Denying | • Being unwilling to take responsibility for the abuse
|                   | • Making light of the abuse
|                   | • Blaming the abuse on you
