Patient Revolution:
The Hidden History of Women’s Leadership in Poland’s Solidarity Movement

2:30 pm
Tues. Feb. 22
Piper Hall
970 West Sheridan Rd.
open to the public lecture by Shana Penn

Author of:

Awarded Best Book
in Slavic, East European and Eurasian Women’s Studies
by the Association of Women in Slavic Studies

Shana Penn is a visiting scholar at the Center for Jewish Studies, at the Graduate Theological Union, in Berkeley. She also is the executive director of the San Francisco co-based Taube Foundation for Jewish Life and Culture, where she created the Foundation’s Jewish Heritage Initiative in Poland.

She is currently writing a book about Poland’s Jewish cultural revival, and an oral history collection of Czech women dissidents in the 1989 Velvet Revolution.

this image is a feminist artistic response, by Slovenian artist Sonya Ivekovi, to the High Noon election poster used by Solidarity in the 1989 election campaign.