Carl Chadek began his musical career at age 9 in Milwaukee studying with organist Ida Orfield on the Hammond organ. Ms. Orfield was the last organist that was employed at the Riverside Theater, Milwaukee, playing the extant Wurlitzer Theater Pipe Organ. With her encouragement, Carl went on to study organ privately with several excellent teachers in Milwaukee. It was Ms. Orfield that found Carl his first job as a church organist at a small Baptist church in Milwaukee playing a modest Wangerin pipe organ – still one of his favorite instruments. After completing a degree in Computer Science and several years of working as a computer programmer and analyst, he entered college at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and received his BFA in Music studying voice with Prof. William Duval and piano with Dr. Jeffrey Hollander. Continuing study in voice with Patricia Nelson lead him to musical theater and opera. Carl’s varied experience includes lead singing roles in musical theater and opera, music direction with touring theatrical productions, cabaret appearances, and composing for children’s theater. Church work was almost always included through the years. Currently, Carl is the Director of Music at Saint Hilary Church, Chicago.
