Loyola's Department of Campus Safety provides many services to the Loyola community with an emphasis on a safe and secure environment. Any suspicious activity or potentially dangerous situations should be reported to Campus Safety immediately. Emergency phones are located throughout each campus. The security dispatcher may be reached by simply dialing the extension 4-4911 on an on-campus telephone or by pressing the red button on a designated emergency telephone, which connects you directly to Campus Safety. From off-campus locations you can reach Campus Safety by dialing 773-508-6039.

President's Safety Message

Perhaps we wonder, from time to time, whether we are in a safe place: on the street, on public transportation, or maybe even in our homes. Personal safety often isn't much about where we are as it is about how we are—our awareness and interpretation of our surroundings. It's possible to learn ways to enhance one's own safety. Whether you're new to Chicago or you're a life-long city dweller, we want your time here at Loyola and in this city to be enriching and safe. Loyola is committed to the safety and security of students, faculty, staff, administrators, alumni and visitors. Thus, we encourage everyone to be alert and active for their own safety, and we provide tools to help: crime prevention and safety seminars, regular tours of hot spots near campus, classes on self-defense techniques, and partnerships with student, faculty and staff groups.

We have comprehensive campus and neighborhood security plans to assist you when you do need help. Our officers are available on foot patrol, on bikes, and in security vehicles, and our campuses are equipped with visible security phones. Residences have desk monitors and secure entrances, and Loyola Security personnel readily and regularly escort students to campus and nearby apartment residences during evening and early morning hours. We use the university's e-mail system to send safety alerts, including tips for safe behavior; and we post similar flyers on campus. Our security department also operates a free daily shuttle bus service that links to both our Lakeside Campuses and their diverse neighborhoods. Busses run from early morning through the evening.

Loyola has worked diligently over the years to be a good citizen in our Lake Shore and Water Tower neighborhoods. We feel responsible for their maintenance and growth. In turn, the city of Chicago offers us all its resources: museums, theaters, sporting events, historic neighborhoods and parks, and internship and volunteer opportunities at many institutions. However, being a city resident requires being aware that not every one is a good neighbor, and that urban life has its share on anti-social and illegal activity. To help stay safe, wherever you are, take advantage of our security department's classes to add safety skills to your life skills. Be enriched in all aspects of urban living during your time at Loyola University Chicago.

Michael J. Garanzini, S.J.
President, Loyola University Chicago

A Message from the Director of the Department of Campus Safety

At colleges and universities throughout the nation, campus security departments focus on protecting lives and property. While this remains at the core of our responsibility, the 21st century presents new challenges: We now also have to be prepared for incidents with unimaginable consequences. As a result, campus law enforcement agencies must progress from ordinary security forces to become professional campus safety units, empowered with police authority on the campus, as well as for a specified area surrounding the campus.

Recognizing these trends, Fr. Michael Garanzini, S.J., President of Loyola University Chicago, commissioned a comprehensive study that demonstrated the need for a professional police department to protect the Loyola community. I was named to implement this mandate and have conducted an exhaustive search to hire law enforcement specialists. At present our administrative personnel are in place. These individuals bring with them a wide range of experiences and skills from within the Chicago police Department. Their cumulative backgrounds represent several centuries of law enforcement experience.

As we continue to build this new department, we remain totally committed to crime prevention and to ensuring the safety of all of our students, faculty and staff. To accomplish these goals, we believe that it is paramount to forge partnerships with all segments of the Loyola community as well as to maintain strong relations with our neighbors and community groups. We believe this can be accomplished and look forward to sharing new ideas, exchanging information and achieving mutual objectives through such activities as open forums and establishing task forces.

I hope you will take the opportunity to review this bulletin to familiarize yourself and others with the safety programs and services provided by the Department of Campus Safety. Please remember that campus safety is everyone's responsibility.

Robert Fine
Director, Campus Safety Department

Campus Safety Officers

The Department of Campus Safety is comprised of three categories of officers; Campus Security Officers have completed a formal 20 hour security officer training program which is recognized by the State of Illinois.

Campus Safety Officers are graduates of a recognized state-certified police training academy. They have successfully completed at least 400 hours of police academy training, and have passed the written Illinois Law Enforcement Examination. These officers are not armed.

Campus Police Officers are sworn, armed police officers who are certified through the State of Illinois.

In addition, some of our officers have specialized supplementary training. The officers in our bike patrol unit have completed the International Police Mountain Bike Association training course in bicycle patrol techniques. Some of our officers are certified instructors in the Rape Aggression Defense program for women's self defense techniques. Finally, many of our officers have college degrees or are pursuing a degree during their off-duty time.

Community Policing

The department of Campus Safety is committed to the safety and well-being of its community. To help us fulfill our mission statement we have expanded our crime preventing services to include Community Oriented Policing (C.O.P.). C.O.P. consists of three principal components: community partnership, problem solving and change management. Community policing seeks to build a strong relationship between the police, local government, and the community it serves. Through a collaborative effort, criminal activity and quality of life issues are identified by examining the characteristics or problems and applying appropriate problem-solving remedies.

Building access: after hours, weekends and holidays

Campus Safety Officers will admit an individual or a group into a building or room after hours, on weekends and holidays only after receiving written authorization from the appropriate department prior to the date the facilities are to be used. Authorization should be written for an individual or group by the person in charge of the room or area involved. The request should be signed by a dean, director, department head or his/her appointed authorized person. Authorized persons must not allow unauthorized individuals to enter. I.D. is required for access to university buildings.

Lost and Found

Lost and found items may be given to a Campus Safety officer at any time or may be brought to the Campus Safety Department, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Property will be held for 60 days before it is disposed of.

Bicycles

Secure your bike to designated bike racks only. Do not lock your bike to benches, railings, sign posts, etc.

Bikes that are locked in unauthorized areas may have their locks cut and be removed. Use the bike corral on the first floor of the main parking structure by filling out the online registration form at www.luc.edu/depts/safety. Your I.D. card will then be activated for access to that area.

Sexual Assault

Loyola University does not tolerate any form of coercive sexual behavior including sexual assault against any of its students. Sexual assault as defined in the Student Handbook at <http://www.luc.edu/depts/studaff/handbook/> is any actual or attempted non-consensual sexual activity that injures or threatens to injure another person including but not limited to rape, attempted intercourse, sexual touching, exhibitionism or sexual language of a threatening nature. All complaints are taken seriously and no one reporting sexual assault, including third parties, will suffer retaliation or reprisal from the university. Complaints of sexual assault will be treated in confidence to the extent feasible, given the need to conduct a thorough investigation and to take corrective action. It is important to preserve evidence, as it may be necessary for proof of criminal sexual assault. If it is determined through an appropriate and prompt investigation that sexual assault has occurred, effective corrective action will be taken to attempt to ensure that it does not recur. Depending on circumstances and the severity of the conduct, corrective action could range from an oral/written warning to dismissal or expulsion. For more information concerning policies and procedures regarding the Student Conduct Code go to <http://www.luc.edu/depts/studaff/handbook/>

Programs to promote awareness

The University Wellness Center, upon request, offers educational programs to promote awareness of sexual assault including "How to Help a Survivor of Sexual Assault" and "How to Reduce Your Risk for Sexual Assault". The Department of Campus Safety offers a "Sexual Assault Prevention" course which is designed to provide strategies to help one avoid becoming a victim, as well as information about what to do when confronted by an attacker. The Department also offers a self-defense course for women entitled "Rape Aggression Defense Systems."

Responding to Sexual Assault

Loyola University encourages the reporting of all incidents of sexual assault. The privacy of the victim will be respected at all times. It is the victim's decision whether to press a complaint or to continue with any form of resolution. It is the right of the victim not to report, but if she/he does report, no action will be taken without the victim's consent. A student who has been a victim of a sexual assault is encouraged to report the incident to the Dean of Students Office. A staff member will advise the student of her/his rights and the appropriate procedures for filing a complaint. Information will be given to the student regarding the reporting of the incident to Public Safety and the Chicago Police.

- Admission to the event is restricted to the Loyola University Chicago community and their invited guests.
- An Event Planning Form should be used to request approval for the service of alcohol. These forms must be submitted a minimum of fifteen (15) business days prior to the proposed event (see "Special events").
- The Dean of Students will have discretion in approving the service of alcoholic beverages at the event based on the age of the guests, size, time, location and management of the event.
- Department of Public Safety personnel may be required due to the size, type and hours of the event at the expense of the sponsoring organization (see "Special events").
- The Dean of Students may terminate the service of alcohol or the event, as the Dean of Students deems necessary.
- Fees may be assessed to the sponsoring group for additional maintenance or damages incurred.

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Prevention

Loyola University Chicago is committed to the adoption and implementation of a program to prevent the unlawful possession, use or distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol by students. In support of this commitment and in compliance with the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act of 1989, the following information is provided through the Student Handbook at: <http://www.luc.edu/depts/studaff/handbook/> All members of the Loyola community are expected to comply with this policy.

Loyola University Chicago's Emergency Response Plan (ERP)

The lakeside campuses are a complex system of buildings, functional units, schools, departments, and services located in two uniquely different areas of Chicago. The Emergency Response Plan (ERP) provides a framework by which the university can effectively and efficiently respond to and manage major emergencies and disasters that may affect our campuses. The ERP is the basic guide for responding to any emergency situation on university-owned property that could cause death, serious injury, disrupt operations, or cause physical or environmental damage. This plan strives to put Loyola in a proactive position to protect students, staff and faculty, as well as the community and our environment, in case of a major emergency or disaster. It facilitates compliance with certain regulatory requirements of federal, state and local agencies, and enhances the university's ability to quickly return to normal operations following an emergency or disaster.

The ERP will not, nor can it be expected to, address every possible emergency situation that could face the lakeside campuses. Therefore, each unit of the university must become familiar with this plan, particularly the notification process, to ensure an adequate response to any and all possible emergencies. In addition, each unit should consider extending parts of this plan to include more specific details as they relate to various departmental needs. For more information about the University's Emergency Response Plan, please visit www.luc.edu/ and you will find the Emergency Response Plan in the site index.

The Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act is the landmark federal law, originally known as the Campus Security Act that requires colleges and universities across the United States to disclose certain security policies and crime statistics on and around the campus. The University provides this information through the web page at the address; www.luc.edu/depts/safety/ click on Safety Bulletin for a complete copy of the yearly report. You can request a hard copy of the report by contacting the Director of Campus Safety at (773) 508-2398. The statistics below are provided in accordance with the Clery Act. The Chicago Police Department has provided the University with statistical information for crimes reported on public property adjacent to campus and those statistics are included in this report. You can find more information about crimes reported within the City of Chicago including crime maps at: <http://12.17.79.6/>
