Mission Statement

Loyola University Chicago is a Jesuit Catholic University dedicated to freedom of inquiry, action in the service of faith and justice, and care for others, especially vulnerable populations. Praxis: Where Reflection & Practice Meet, a journal of student scholarship published by the Loyola University Chicago School of Social Work, is committed to the exploration of clinical social work issues, and respects and welcomes all viewpoints.

Editorial Policy

Praxis is published by students in the School of Social Work at Loyola University Chicago. The Editorial Board is composed of undergraduate, masters and doctoral social work students. Submissions to the journal are reviewed anonymously by the Board and are edited with permission from the authors. Submissions should be no longer than 20 pages, submitted on a disk as a Microsoft Word document file (.doc), formatted with double spaced text, 12 point font size (Times New Roman font), and one inch margins (left, right, top, bottom). All identifying information, including contact information, should be on a separate page. Responsibility for accuracy of information contained in written submissions rests solely with the authors. Opinions expressed in the journal are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of the School of Social Work or the Editorial Board.

Subscriptions to Praxis are $10 payable to Loyola-School of Social Work.
