

Teaching with Primary Sources (TPS) - Loyola University Chicago

Library of Congress (LOC) Main Web site, found at: www.loc.gov

Science Related LOC Links

*Library of Congress' Science Reference Services (under Researchers section), Select All Reading Rooms and Research Centers, then select the Science, Technology and Business Division. Direct link is found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/scitech/>

Provides a starting point to numerous science related subject areas and topics. Topic areas range from photo and weblinks to bibliographies of related sources. There is a specific link for Teachers and Students as well. Reader levels vary.

*In Library of Congress' American Memory, go to Browse Collections by Topic—select Technology and Industry and Environment. Main page found at: <http://memory.loc.gov/ammem/index.html>

There are many links to various collections that relate to science topics and activities.

Recorded Reference Center*, Library of Congress, found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/record/>

Click on Recordings Available Online, you can find collections of wide-ranging sound recordings including first sounds from Emile Berliner's invention the gramophone.

American Memory Film Collection*, Found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/mopic/ndlmps.html>

Collection includes early silent movies about the Great San Francisco Earthquake and fire (earth science) and the Westinghouse Factory (early machines, technology).

*Library of Congress site, Motion Picture & Television Reading Room, found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/mopic/>

Science goes to the Movies*, Found at: http://mic.imtc.gatech.edu/scienceeducators_portal/sci_index.htm

Other helpful links...

Library of Congress' Selected Science-Related Internet Resources*, found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/scitech/resources.html> and especially for teachers, found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/scitech/selected-internet/teachers.html>. Selected lessons can also be found at: <http://www.loc.gov/rr/scitech/selected-internet/suggestedlessons.html>

Illinois State Learning Standards*, found at: <http://www.isbe.state.il.us/ils/>

