Biography

Anne E. Carr was born in Chicago on 11 November 1934. After receiving her A.B. (cum laude) from Mundelein College in 1956, she taught in the Chicago Public Schools for two years while doing graduate work in English literature at Loyola University Chicago. In 1958 she joined the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, taking the religious name of Sr. Mary Anne David, BVM. By 1963 Sr. Anne had earned her M.A. in Theology from Marquette University and had begun teaching at Mundelein College, where she served as acting chair of the Theology Department from 1964 to 1966. In 1966 she began studying Christian Theology at the University of Chicago, earning a second M.A. in 1969 and her Ph.D. in 1971. When she returned to Mundelein in 1970 on a full-time basis, she was appointed undergraduate chair of the Theology Department. In 1973 she left for a two-year appointment as visiting assistant professor in the Religious Studies Department of Indiana University at Bloomington (Indiana).

In 1975 Dr. Carr accepted the position of assistant dean and assistant professor of theology in the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. She was promoted to associate dean and associate professor in 1977. In 1981 she became associate professor of theology and humanities and in 1988 was promoted to full professor, serving during the intervening years as a visiting scholar at Trinity College in Dublin, Boston College, and Harvard Divinity School.

Anne E. Carr, BVM, is an internationally recognized theologian and educator. Her professional life has been dedicated to feminist theology and the role of women in the church, where she has worked to blend these issues with the traditions of Christianity, particularly of the Roman Catholic Church. In addition to authoring three books, Dr. Carr has edited and co-edited many other books, written essays and published articles. She has lectured widely on aspects of feminist theology and the role of women in the church. Her voice recognizes and speaks for the new spirituality of the modern woman.

In recognition of her outstanding achievements, Dr. Carr received an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from the Jesuit Divinity School, Berkeley, California, in 1983, an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Loyola University Chicago in 1995, and the John Courtney Murray Award of the Catholic Theological Society of America in 1997.

Scope and Content

The papers of Anne E. Carr, B.V.M., span the years 1964-1995 and have been divided into four series and consist of unpublished sermons and talks, published articles, book reviews, published interviews, awards, and biographical information. Each series is arranged chronologically.

Series 1: Unpublished Materials, 1965-1995, n.d., Box 1, contains the typescripts and handwritten outlines of sermons and talks given by Dr. Carr, arranged chronologically. Several files contain the program outlining the service of worship in which Dr. Carr delivered the sermon.

Series 2: Published Materials, 1964-1994, Box 2, is composed of published articles and book reviews; this series is arranged chronologically. Contained within are manuscript versions of articles and in some instances, copies of how the article appeared in print, and one cassette recording of one of Dr. Carr's papers, published in 1979 by the National Catholic Reporter Publishing Company. Copies of the review in print are also included for some. Also included are reviews of Dr. Carr's works: The Theological Method of Karl Rahner; A Search for Wisdom and Spirit: Thomas Merton's Theology of Self; and Transforming Grace: Christian Tradition and Women's Experience.

Series 3: Interviews and Awards, 1989, Box 2, contains copies of published interviews given by Dr. Carr and a scholarly award presented to Dr. Carr.

Series 4: Biographical Information, 1965-1995, Box 2, contains a copy of Dr. Carr's resume through 1995, and 28 photographs spanning the years 1965-1990.

Scope and Content

This addendum to the Anne E. Carr, BVM, Ph.D., Papers consists primarily of materials related to her career as a professional theologian. Documents include research files, course notes, student papers, conference materials, and publications. The collection has been divided into three series and arranged alphabetically within series, owing to the thematic nature of much of the material.

Series 1: Biographical, 1975-2007, n.d., Box 1

This series contains materials related to Dr. Carr's personal life and consists of correspondence acknowledging her donations to various organizations, funeral eulogies, personal reflections, her resume, a diary kept by Jackie Rice during her surgery for a non-malignant brain tumor, and a photograph.

Series 2: Academic Materials, 1961-2007, n.d., Boxes 1-3

This series consists of course materials from Dr. Carr's undergraduate and graduate education and research files on theological subjects. The materials include handwritten notes, course syllabi, articles, student papers, and Dr. Carr's official graduate school records.

Series 3: Professional Materials, 1918-2003, n.d., Boxes 4-9

This series contains materials related to Dr. Carr's career as a professional theologian including conference materials, speeches, awards, unpublished work, photographs, and correspondence acknowledging her various faculty appointments and yearly salary. This series also includes two subseries.

Subseries 3A: Courses Taught, 1918-2002, n.d., Boxes 6-8

This subseries consists of course notes and materials related to the various college courses Dr. Carr taught during her career as a professor of theology. Documents include course syllabi, handwritten notes, student papers, and articles related to the subject of the course.

Subseries 3B: Publications, 1968-2003, n.d., Boxes 8-9

This subseries contains Dr. Carr's various publications, consisting of articles, book reviews both written by Dr. Carr and about her own works, and publications put out by the University of Chicago Divinity School to which Dr. Carr contributed.
