Administrative History

The Women Alive! A Legacy of Social Justice exhibition was created by the nonprofit organization Alive, Ltd., and sponsored in part by both the Center for Urban Research and Learning and the Gannon Center for Women & Leadership of Loyola University Chicago, to celebrate the lives of twenty-four innovative Chicago-area women who dedicated their lives to peace and social welfare issues through political, religious, commercial, and artistic activism. The Women Alive! Records span primarily from January 2003 to August 2003 and document the planning and production of the Women Alive! Exhibition that ran during the summer of 2003 at Archworks in Chicago. Also included are materials used in individual exhibit installations, particularly those of the Crowley's and Jean Hunt.

Scope and Content

The Women Alive! Exhibit collection spans from 1980 to 2003. This collection is divided into three series: Series one relates primarily to planning and implementation of the exhibit, Series 2 includes all applicable AV material, and Series 3 actual exhibition items. The files on floppy disk could not be opened or printed because of age and incompatibility of programs.

Series 1: Women Alive! Organizational Materials, 2003, Box 1

Includes administrative records of the exhibit, correspondence, public relations materials such as press releases and announcements, honoree selection and information, and papers related to affiliated organizations like Archworks. Materials are arranged by alphabetically.
