Course Description

Rome is a fascinating palimpsest city in which diverse layers of time are not only superimposed, but coexist one with the other. Ancient buildings have become foundations of new ones, have been preserved with a change in function, or have been dismantled, transported, and reused as spolia elsewhere. This course will follow the chronology of the history of the city from the ancient capital of the Roman Empire to the principal seat of the Catholic Church, and to the modern capital of Italy through Antiquity, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, the Baroque and the Modern Time. Selected works of architecture, painting, sculpture, and urban projects will be studied in the context of Rome's long history, but also through philosophy, theology, science, poetry, music etc. Particular attention will be given to certain crucial historical figures such as emperors Augustus, Hadrian and Constantine, popes Sylvester I, Boniface VIII, Julius II, Urban VIII, Innocent XI, and Alexander VII, the first King of Italy Victor Emanuel and the fascist leader Mussolini who have given an important impetus to the ideological and physical transformation of the city. Michelangelo, Raphael, Bernini, Borromini, and Caravaggio will be studied as the artists who have created some of the iconic art works of the Eternal City. Students will explore the city of Rome directly on-site with visits to the Ancient Forum and Colosseum, the Pantheon, the great Basilicas founded in early Christian time, the complex of the Vatican and Saint Peter's, the streets, piazzas, churches, palaces, and the collection of sublime art works in some of the greatest museums of the city.

Learning Outcomes

On completion of the course students should be able to:

- Develop visual literacy. Students will learn how to interpret ideas communicated through a visual language.
- Determine the contexts of art works. Buildings, paintings, and sculptures will be studied as visual documents which reveal broader interdisciplinary contexts.
- Acquire the critical and technical vocabulary. Students will learn to describe, analyze, and formulate arguments about artistic periods.
- Assess how viewers respond to works of art. Through iconography, allegory or affectivity, students will develop the capacity to interact intellectually and empathetically with art works.
- Examine multiple interpretive possibilities of art works. Though as accurate as possible, interpretations can often remain indeterminate.

Required Text / Materials

There will be a series of mandatory weekly readings (articles or book chapters) with Jstor links or posted on Sakai. The average reading per week is 60 pages (including images). Certain weeks there will be an article of about 30 pages and others a book of about 120 pages. Readings will be tested as part of the preparation and especially in the exams' essay questions.

Methods of Instruction

The course consists of on-site lectures in the piazzas, streets, churches, palaces, villas and museums of Rome and a few in-class lectures. This course is not a guided tour of the city of Rome, but an academic course with lectures to follow with attention. Punctuality and note-taking are extremely important. Because of heavy traffic and crowded buses, in some cases you should leave the Rome Center more than one hour before the beginning of class. It is the student's responsibility to study how to reach the precise appointment for the on-site lecture. Audio headsets will be handed out at the beginning of each on-site meeting. Please handle these with care and return them at the end of class. If you arrive late you will not only miss class but also the distribution of headsets. Please do not eat, smoke, take photographs or use cell phones during the on-site lectures.

Mid-Term and Final Exam

Exams aim at evaluating the students' memorization of all the art works seen during the lectures, note-taking, understanding of the readings as well as the students' development of their own critical thinking and ability to synthesize. The mid-term exam will cover the material of all lectures. The exam will consist of 4 slide identifications. Students will have about 10 minutes for every slide and they are supposed to write the name of the artist, the work of art, name of the patron, date, location and finally write a one-page analysis. 1 contrast/comparison analysis of two images in 20 minutes. 1 unknown slide to discuss in 10 minutes. Finally, an essay question in which students are supposed to show their capacity to integrate their notes taken during the lectures and the assigned readings in a well-constructed analysis of the works.

Research Paper

Critical thought and analytical writing are fundamental components of the course and the final grade. Students will submit one five-page assignment, relating to a specific topic chosen together with the instructor. Students will write and present an original individual research paper about a relevant topic within the scope of the course using scholarly sources (journal articles, book chapters, photographs, etc.) as well as other pertinent sources such as original documents and archival papers if necessary. Essays will be 5 pages long and will include an introduction, main body, and conclusion. Essays must be typed, double-spaced in Times New Roman (12pt), and 2.5cm/1-inch margins on all four sides. Ideally, they should adopt Chicago style. One copy of the essay will be submitted via email and a hard copy given directly to the professor on the day in which it is due. The subject of your paper should be presented at the beginning of the course in a half page (double space) synthesis of your research with about 2 books and 2 articles from scientific periodicals in the bibliography

Preparation and Participation

Preparation refers to reading the materials in a timely fashion. Participation refers to the responsibility of the students in relation to the lectures, the discussions, and the exams. It is essential that students respect the calendar and be always on time. It is fundamental that students take good notes from every lecture for these will be very helpful during the exams. Presence, attention, enthusiasm are considered an essential form of participation in an on-site course. Students should not scatter around when on-site, but always remain as a class group (in the range of visibility of the professor) during an academic lecture being this in the Pantheon, in Piazza Navona or at the Galleria Borghese. It is important that students dress properly when visiting churches and holy places and bring umbrellas in case of rain.

Attendance Policy

In accordance with the JFRC mission to promote a higher level of academic rigor, all courses adhere to the following attendance policy. Prompt attendance, preparation and active participation in course discussions are
