Sequence Overview:

This sequence focuses on literacy and data-based decision making. Module 310 places candidates in a literacy block to acquire knowledge and skills in the assessing and teaching of basic language and literacy skills. Module 320 engages students in the use of data to measure objective mastery, measure student growth, and modify instruction. Module 330 involves candidates in a content area where they co-teach and teach personally designed lessons, utilizing sheltered strategies, informational texts and technology. They integrate and apply the assessment knowledge and skills learned in the previous modules.

Conceptual Framework Standards:

This course is aligned with the conceptual framework of the School of Education—social action through education. The course focuses on providing literacy instruction to linguistically and academically diverse learners, and creating lessons that are culturally responsive to meet needs of all students. The conceptual framework is described at: www.luc.edu/education/mission/

Conceptual Framework Standards addressed in this sequence:

CF4: Candidates demonstrate skills that will enable them to work effectively with diverse clients.

CF5: Candidates demonstrate technological knowledge and skills, which enhance education.

Dispositions

All students are assessed on one or more dispositional areas of growth across our programs: Professionalism, Fairness, and the Belief that All Students Can Learn. The instructor in your course will identify the dispositions assessed in this course and you can find the rubrics related to these dispositions in LiveText. Disposition data is reviewed by program faculty on a regular basis.

This allows faculty to work with students to develop throughout their program and address any issues as they arise.

Candidates in all modules will be assessed on the following disposition as well:

D17: Demonstrating professionalism through personal responsibility and accountability related to attendance, participation and communication.

LiveText

All students, except those who are non-degree, must have access to LiveText to complete the benchmark assessments aligned to the Conceptual Framework Standards and all other accreditation, school-wide and/or program-wide related assessments. You can access more information on LiveText here: LiveText

Sequence Five Summative Assessment:

This is a combined TLLSC Sequence Five Culminating Event that will include teacher candidates from all sections and areas in Sequence Five. Candidates will prepare 3 sided poster board displays or develop professional presentations utilizing technology to showcase their school based classroom experiences and present them during this session. Following this, small group discussions will focus on highlighting, connecting and integrating course content and clinical experiences across the TLLSC Areas: ECE/SPED, ELEM/SPED, & SEC. In addition to the visual presentation, they will write an essay utilizing guiding prompts to discuss their professional observations and growth based on their experiences in Sequence Five. The candidates' specific Sequence Five instructors will assess posters, presentations and essays. The rubric for this assessment will be posted in Live Text, and grade credit will be applied and included in all three modules. Candidates will be expected to complete this assessment during the final PLC weeks in the semester. The grades from this summative assessment will be factored into the final grades for each of the three modules, where they will be worth 15% of each grade.

Language and Literacy for Diverse Students

Teaching and Assessing Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Students

TLSC 310 Module Description

This module focuses on the teaching of reading skills developmentally appropriate for the grade level teaching endorsement range of the teacher candidate. Emphasized are Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts (CCSS-ELA) across all literacy areas: Reading Foundational Skills, Reading Literature, Reading Informational Text, Writing, Speaking and Listening, and Language. In on-site school experiences, teacher candidates will work with core curriculum and the use of informal and formal assessments to determine student instructional needs and to target instructional interventions to them. Evidence-based instructional practices designed to address and adapt to the needs of culturally and linguistically diverse learners will be emphasized. Teacher candidates will work with classroom teachers to select high quality print, non-print and technological resources for teaching literacy skills for use in the lessons that they prepare and teach. All experiences will be integrated within the Multi Tier System of Support Framework.

- This module focuses on literacy (i.e. reading, writing) with the broad lens of all students in a given grade level range and an emphasis on the connection between language and literacy for culturally and linguistically diverse students who are still acquiring the English language. Since language (i.e., listening and speaking) and literacy (i.e., reading and writing) are inherently connected through receptive (i.e., listening and reading) and productive (i.e., speaking and writing) domains, using instructional strategies for both language and literacy here will better prepare teachers for classroom contexts with ELLs. Part of two modules focused on methodology for culturally and linguistically diverse students, this module focuses on language and literacy instruction and assessment in English language arts.

- Beginning in this module, candidates will be expected to consider the role of academic language in their instruction and plan specifically to support the development of academic language for all students in the classroom.

TLSC 320 Module Description

This module focuses on the relationship between curriculum, assessment, data analysis and instructional modifications. Candidates will write objectives and design test questions to effectively measure those objectives. Conceptual Framework Standards

The School of Education at Loyola University Chicago, a Jesuit and Catholic urban university, supports the Jesuit ideal of knowledge in the service of humanity. We endeavor to advance professional education in the service of social justice, engaged with Chicago, the nation, and the world. To achieve this vision the School of Education participates in the discovery, development, demonstration, and dissemination of professional knowledge and practice within a context of ethics, service to others, and social justice. We fulfill this mission by preparing professionals to serve as teachers, administrators, psychologists, and researchers; by conducting research on issues of professional practice and social justice; and by partnering with schools and community agencies to enhance life-long learning in the Chicago area.

Specifically grounded in the overarching principles of Professionalism in Service of Social Justice, this module focuses on the policies and practices that impact the instruction and assessment of diverse students in urban schools, emphasizing the role of the teacher in making educational decisions and advocating for students. Additionally, candidates must demonstrate understanding of educational policy and critically evaluate practices in a variety of classroom and school settings.

Technology

Teacher candidates in Sequence 5 will be expected to demonstrate evidence of professional technology skills. They will be expected to become competent with the range of technology at the school site, including interactive boards, their software, and school based curriculum software. They will also be required to effectively use Live Text software for the development of individually planned literacy-based lessons to be taught during the experience. Teacher candidates will also be expected to utilize a variety of websites including Blackboard, ISBE, Assessment data bases and professional support such as AIMSweb and Intervention Central, and literacy related professional sites. It is expected that teacher candidates will recognize the importance of developing a strong and continually renewed set of technology skills, and that they will promote access to these skills for all students with whom they and work.

Diversity

By focusing on the teaching of literacy within diverse classroom populations, this sequence addresses multiple perspectives on the development and teaching of literacy, including language and learning diversity, including but not limited to: the diversity in students' backgrounds (i.e., culture, language, ability) and classroom and school contexts (e.g., English language learners, instructional contexts for students with special needs). It is expected that teacher candidates in Sequence Five will recognize, respect and address all varieties of diversity, including linguistic diversity, in their learning and teaching environments. This will be demonstrated in their coursework and relationships with classmates and instructors as well as in emerging professional relationships and knowledge of professional planning and instruction with the administration, faculty, students and families at the school site.
