Module Description

Candidates continue to investigate the professions of early childhood education, early intervention, and early childhood special education in this module, the second of three integrated modules in sequence 4 of the ECSE program. During the first part of TLSC250, teacher candidates observe infants and toddlers and the environments in which they are served, practicing the process of interpreting and decision-making based upon observation, expanding their knowledge of developmental and learning theory, and continuing to explore physical, cognitive, and social-emotional development. They also learn, observe, evaluate, and support efforts to create safe, supportive, and developmentally appropriate infant toddler settings that adhere to all relevant standards. Next, candidates will develop their skills in working with the youngest children. After completing background readings on intentionality in developmentally appropriate adult-child interactions with infants and toddlers, they will observe other adults interacting and teaching across the daily routine, and begin the process of critically reflecting upon their own interactions with children and embedding developmentally appropriate infant/toddler programming in the routines of caregiving and typical infant/toddler behaviors (e.g., feeding, toileting, napping and waking, positioning/holding, as well as communicative crying).

Over the weeks of this module, candidates will lead planned activities and participate actively in child-directed play-based activities. They will assume responsibility for activities each day and be formally evaluated on their work on two group activities, after which they will identify strengths and areas for further development in a DAP self-assessment and professional development plan.

Finally, this module (along with 252 and 251) is designed to address required areas of competency in early intervention. It specifically addresses contexts and standards of practice for working with infants/toddlers and their families within their communities. Teacher candidates will develop skills in understanding the role of infant/toddler professionals and early interventionists, all through supervised experiences at partner sites where serving infants and toddlers with special needs and their families are served.

Essential questions regarding early childhood education explored in TLSC 250

1. How do historical, philosophical, legal, and empirical factors influence the education of young children? (ECSE: 11A, 11B, 11C, 11K, 11R—ECE 17G, NAEYC: 6d)
2. What are some examples of early childhood service delivery models, and approaches to collaborative assessment and instruction? (ECSE: 5D, ECE 11C, 12A, NAEYC: 4b)

3. How might relevant professional organizations, publications, and resources for professional development positively influence the work of early childhood educators? (ECSE: ECE: 17E, NAEYC: 6a, 6b)
4. How do standards of practice guide the work of early educators across a wide variety of educational settings?
5. What are the outcomes of early education? How do professionals in birth to three, preschool, and early elementary school conceptualize their role as 'effective' educators?
6. What are the benefits and challenges of inclusive programming for young children with special needs? (ECSE: 5D, ECE: 11E, 12A, NAEYC: 4b, 4c)
7. How do early childhood educators demonstrate an attitude that affirms and respects family, cultural, and linguistic diversity? (ECSE: 3B, 11F, ECE 9B, 9C, NAEYC: 2a)
8. How do early educators affirm and respect family, cultural, and linguistic diversity? (ECSE: 3B, 11F, ECE 9B, 9C, NAEYC: 2a)

Developmental sequence:

1. Describe the phases of infant and toddler development, including the influences of teratogens, maternal factors, health care, and childbirth. (NAEYC 1)
2. Cite major milestones of physical, cognitive, language, social, and emotional development from birth to age 3. (ECSE 2A, 2B, 2E; ECE 8A, 8D; NAEYC 1)
3. Explain the strengths, limitations, historical contexts, and interrelationships of notable theories of child development, including those of Erikson, Freud, Piaget, Bandura, Vygotsky, key behaviorists, and others in explaining the development and learning of infants and toddlers. (ECSE 2E, 2F; ECE 8A, 8D, 8F, 8G, 9C; NAEYC 1)

Contextual factors:

1. Recognize the impact of heredity, nutrition, disease, injury, and emotional well-being on each domain of early development. (ECE 6A, 8F, 8G, 8H)
2. Identify personal and family characteristics, social relationships, and community factors that may protect young children from the effects of stress and environmental risks by increasing resiliency. (ECSE 2C; ECE 6A, 8F, 8G)
3. Utilize the lens of culture to examine issues affecting families of young children, including reproductive choices, child rearing practices, and reactions to disability. (ECSE 3B, 3C; ECE 9C)
4. Apply developmental theory in the interest of social justice by attempting to better understand the needs of children in oppressed minority groups (including young children from immigrant families, children living in poverty, etc.). (ECSE 3B, 3C; ECE8D, 8F, 9C; NAEYC 1)

Exceptionality:

1. Identify early indicators of possible learning, emotional, and behavior problems, as well as their impact on educational planning (ECSE 2H)

2. Describe the ways in which child characteristics and environmental factors interact to alter developmental trajectories. (ECSE 2A, 9A)

Observing development and conducting research:

Recognize appropriate methods for collecting data on children's development (naturalistic and systematic observation, interviews, case studies, formal assessment, ethnography, etc.), recognizing the importance of distinguishing between observational data collection and interpretive analysis. (ECSE 1B; ECE 11A; NAEYC 3)

This course has also been developed to specifically address the following NAEYC standards for personnel preparation in early childhood education:

1. Promoting Child Development and Learning

Candidates prepared in early childhood degree programs are grounded in a child development knowledge base. They use their understanding of a) young children's characteristics and needs, and b) multiple interacting influences on children's development and learning, to c) create environments that are healthy, respectful, supportive, and challenging for each child.

3. Observing, Documenting, and Assessing To Support Young Children and Families

Candidates prepared in early childhood degree programs understand that child observation, documentation, and other forms of assessment are central to the practice of all early childhood professionals. They a) know about and understand the goals, benefits, and uses of assessment. They b) know about and use systematic observations, documentation, and other effective assessment strategies c) in a responsible way, d) in partnership with families and other professionals, to positively influence the development of every child.

5. Becoming a professional

The role of TLSC 250 in exploring diversity

Teacher candidates will have the opportunity to explore cultural, linguistic, ability and many other forms of diversity. They will work directly with diverse infants and toddlers and their families to better understand the role of EC educators. They will begin to develop effective collaboration and communication skills for working with children birth to age three. They will also apply prior learning related to families' culture and needs, and their implications for early childhood educators who are competent in addressing cultural and linguistic diversity.

Expected dispositional outcomes

The following dispositions will be assessed during this module:

D3: Valuing diversity and advocating for all students, particularly those from populations that are historically disenfranchised, underserved and/or overrepresented (including, but not limited to race, ethnicity, culture, language, SES, immigration status, exceptionality, ability, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity). (a1A, i1F, i2J) (IB)

D6: Collecting and analyzing community, school, family, and student data to guide educational decision making. (a2E) (IB)

D7: Valuing and utilizing the unique identities and backgrounds of all students, families and communities as essential assets in learning environments. (i2D, i2F) (IB)

D11: Implementing proactive and preventive practices that represents an understanding that student behavior is shaped by complex environmental factors. (d1D)

D13: Demonstrating high levels of personal engagement and investment in all students' learning while remaining persistent in seeking strategies for reaching students who are not initially successful.

D15: Valuing and promoting curiosity, creativity, and life-long learning in students. (IB)

IDEA Objectives for the evaluation of this course

Essential objectives for this course include:

1. Gaining factual knowledge (terminology, classifications, methods, trends)
2. Learning fundamental principles, generalizations, or theories
3. Developing specific skills, competencies, and points of view needed by professionals in the field most closely related to this course
4. Learning to analyze and critically evaluate ideas, arguments, and points of view

The School of Education's Conceptual Framework

"Professionalism in Service of Social Justice" is the conceptual framework infused into all programs within the School of Education. The underlying beliefs or principles that form the foundation of this framework include sensitivity and concern for others as essential societal values, and also the belief that caring for others will enhance the moral core of our communities and via a ripple effect, our society and the world as well. Teacher preparation activities in the ECSE program have been designed to assist teacher candidates in taking the first steps toward embodying the principles of social justice by collaborating cross-culturally to make a lasting impact beyond the level of the individual. Meeting the needs of diverse children is a central focus of readings, class discussion, and of the ECSE program itself.

The following Conceptual Framework Standards are specifically addressed in this module:

Conceptual Framework Standards	Activities and Assignments
Candidates demonstrate...
CF1: ...an understanding of a current body of literature and are able to critically evaluate new practices and research in their field	- Written assignments and applications to work at partner site

CF2: ...knowledge and skills in a variety of school and professional settings.	- Extensive work with children and families in the field
CF3: ...an understanding of issues of social justice and inequity.	- Presentations and other activities highlighting features of underserved populations
CF4: ...skills that will enable them to work effectively with diverse clients.	- Field-based classroom work and family event
CF5: ...technological knowledge and skills which enhance education.
CF6: ...professional decision-making skills and behaviors in advancing social justice and service.
CF7: ...how moral and ethical decisions shape actions directed toward service to others.	Reflections
CF8: ...an ability to apply principles in professional decision-making.

Field-based components

Please note that this module includes work in an infant/toddler setting. Please refer to the sequence grading table to see exactly what portion of assignment, module, and final grade points are dependent upon your attendance, participation, professionalism, and work in these field sites.

Technology

Technology is an essential tool for developing your professional skills and for completing any degree program. This sequence assumes a basic and practical knowledge of technology. It assumes that candidates are proficient at word processing (including creating tables and diagrams), communicating via Loyola Outlook e-mail, downloading Microsoft Word and Acrobat Reader files), and recording/presenting video clips. Anytime presentations are done, you must ensure that your files and software are compatible with Loyola's. Bring flash drives, various types of CDs/DVDs, videocassettes (and adapters), and other materials to class in advance of presentations so that you may test them for proper functioning and compatibility. Presentations are graded, so technology foul-ups should be avoided through careful planning and proactive work on assignments. If you are not familiar with the any of the preceding skills/equipment, it is your responsibility to become so.

Assignments

1. Adult-Child Interaction Assignment (20pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

2. Child Observation Assignment (20pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

3. Environmental Observation Assignment (15pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

4. Professionalism in field settings (15 pts)

Once candidates enter field settings, expectations for professionalism are extremely high – they are also Information will be provided to registered candidates.

5. Family Project (20pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

6. Attendance (20 pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

7. Participation points for on-site and campus-based activities (15 pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

8. Collaborative Developmental Chart (30 pts shared with other modules)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

9. Teaching Observations and Videos (60pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

10. Library Assignment (20pts)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

11. Sequence Summative Assessment (25pts – note that TLSC 250 carries more points for this than TLSC252)

Information will be provided to registered candidates.

Assignments

All assignments are expected on the dates noted. It is imperative that work be completed on time. For this reason, you must plan ahead and stay organized. This does not mean that you are not allowed to request additional time to work on individual assignments – however, if an assignment must be submitted late, your instructors must be notified in advance (NOT on its due date) so that a plan for completion can be developed. Otherwise, point deductions will be made according to the following schedule:

- a. 1 to 4 days late: 10% of points will be deducted
- b. 5 to 7 days late: 30% of points will be deducted
- c. more than 7 days late: 50% of points will be deducted

All written assignments (with the obvious exception of test protocols and notes) must be typewritten and conform to the reference formats specified in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 5th edition except where indicated. Please submit a paper copy of each assignment in class unless instructed otherwise. Early assignments are always welcome.

Assignments and Grading

Final course grades will be assigned as follows:

Percentage	93-100	90-92	87-89	83-86	80-82	77-79	73-76	70-72	67-69	60-66	<60
Grade	A	A-	B+	B	B-	C+	C	C-	D+	D	F

The following three are standard sections included in every LUC syllabus:

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is an expression of interpersonal justice, responsibility and care, applicable to Loyola University faculty, students, and staff, which demands that the pursuit of knowledge in the university community be carried out with sincerity and integrity. The School of Education's Policy on Academic Integrity can be found at: http://www.luc.edu/education/academics_policies_integrity.shtml. For additional academic policies and procedures refer to:

http://www.luc.edu/education/academics_policies_main.shtml

Accessibility

Students who have disabilities which they believe entitle them to accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act should register with the Services for Students with Disabilities (SSWD) office. To request accommodations, students must schedule an appointment with an SSWD coordinator. Students should contact SSWD at least four weeks before their first semester or term at Loyola. Returning students should schedule an appointment within the first two weeks of the semester or term. The University policy on accommodations and participation in courses is available at: <http://www.luc.edu/sswd/>

Harassment (Bias Reporting)

It is unacceptable and a violation of university policy to harass, discriminate against or abuse any person because of his or her race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, disability, religion, age or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. Such behavior threatens to destroy the environment of tolerance and mutual respect that must prevail for this university to fulfill its educational and health care mission. For this reason, every incident of harassment, discrimination or abuse undermines the aspirations and attacks the ideals of our community. The university qualifies these incidents as incidents of bias.

In order to uphold our mission of being Chicago's Jesuit Catholic University-- a diverse community seeking God in all things and working to expand knowledge in the service of humanity through learning, justice and faith, any incident(s) of bias must be reported and appropriately addressed. Therefore, the Bias Response (BR) Team was created to assist members of the Loyola University Chicago community in bringing incidents of bias to the attention of the university. If you believe you are subject to such bias, you should notify the Bias Response Team at this link: <http://webapps.luc.edu/biasreporting/>
