What will they discover here?

We admitted your student to Loyola because we believe in their future. We know they're destined for great things, and we want to help them unlock their potential.

Here, students pursue their passions and their gifts and explore the endless possibilities that await them. Our faculty will guide them, empowering them to choose a path that motivates and inspires them.

CURA PERSONALIS

is a hallmark of Ignatian spirituality that urges care for the whole person. At Loyola, we are committed to giving students personalized support to help them become their best selves.

ACADEMICS

Building the Foundation

Echoing our Jesuit heritage, Loyola considers the whole person: the mind, the heart, the body, and the spirit. Our academic programs incorporate elements of compassion and justice, encouraging students to use their education for good.

Students will not only take classes in their chosen fields but they will also expand their horizons into multiple disciplines.

The Core Curriculum, comprising classes in the liberal arts and sciences, will ignite their curiosity and help them discover what inspires them.

With guidance from an academic advisor, they will have opportunities to double major or minor. They can even complete a five-year joint bachelor's and master's degree program, earning two degrees in a compressed time frame.

HANDS-ON EDUCATION

Advancing Experiential Learning

At Loyola, learning extends beyond the walls of a traditional classroom. We ensure that every student will have the opportunity to engage in hands-on learning programs integral to their development.

All students have an opportunity to:

- Pursue research fellowships and funded research opportunities through the Loyola Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (LUROP). The program will allow them to explore their research interests with a dedicated faculty member to guide them.
- Study abroad and immerse themselves in new cultures and grow as people. We have more than 150 study abroad programs in over 50 countries.
- Explore leadership opportunities through the leadership studies minor, student government, Residence Hall Councils, and peer mentorship programs.
- Engage in service learning through volunteer programs like Loyola4Chicago and Saturday of Service.

Barrett Barscz, a recipient of the Robert and Betty Parkinson Social Justice Scholars Award, is grateful for the opportunity to attend Loyola and live in Chicago.

In addition to working as a Patient Care Tech at Northwestern Medicine, he participated in faculty-led research related to institutional racism outcomes for transplant patients and sports performance testing. He is a pre-med student, and a member of the Public Health Club and Pre-Health Society.

He looks forward to motivating individuals to embrace positive lifestyle behaviors.

Clarissa Silén combined her love for communication with a passion for social good.

Through internships at organizations such as AARP-IL and the USA Midwest Province Jesuits, she's used her skills to shape outreach campaigns and media strategies. Additionally, Clarissa's bakery business, Yogi's Pie, supports low-income families in Venezuela.

Clarissa aspires to use communication to drive positive change in healthcare.

Loyola

In line with our Jesuit values, we consider comprehensive care, attending to students' intellectual growth, nurturing their spiritual well-being, and safeguarding their health. Our Wellness Center offers students medical and mental health services, while the Halas Recreation Center affords them access to cutting-edge facilities, bolstering their physical health and fitness.

LIFE AT LOYOLA

Nurturing Talent and Passion

College is a transformative period for self-discovery and personal growth, shaping the trajectory of a student's life. Recognizing that, we want every student to find their community and engage in their hobbies.

With over 200 student clubs and organizations to choose from, students can get involved in a wide array of activities, ranging from volunteering and sports to advocacy, cooking, dancing, debating, and more. These groups will give students a chance to explore their passions and connect with like-minded peers.

In addition to interest-based clubs, there are also a variety of cultural and faith-based groups, where students can connect with their roots and meet peers from similar backgrounds.

CAREER SERVICES

Unlocking Potential

One of the most valuable assets a university can offer is connections to industry. We actively work to bridge that gap between college and working life to ensure our students can prosper in their careers after they graduate.

Our Career Services Center allows students to make one-on-one appointments with career advisors who offer personalized guidance for every student's unique journey. The advisors can also help students secure internships and work opportunities with nonprofits, hospitals, Fortune 500 companies, and more. These experiences are encouraged and credited so that every student can comfortably pursue them. Career Services also organizes job shadow days, career fairs, and networking events with alumni.

In addition, students will have access to Handshake—our career management platform which has helped many find jobs after graduation—as well as LoyolaLinked, an exclusive platform for current students to connect with successful alumni.
