

Awards for students interested in going abroad

Gilman Scholarships: Undergraduates with Pell grants can apply for funding for a summer session, semester, or academic year abroad. The award includes a service component that must be completed after the student returns to the U.S. Deadlines are in October and March. www.iie.org/gilman

Boren Scholarships: Undergraduates can apply for $8000 for the summer, $10,000 for a semester or $20,000 for a year of study abroad in countries outside of Western Europe, Canada, Australia and New Zealand. There is a government service requirement following completion of the degree. Campus deadline is in December; institutional deadline is in February. www.borenawards.org

Vanessa Huerta '19, an International Business and Political Science double major, won a Boren Scholarship to study Russian, in Kyrgyzstan in fall 2017 -- and also won a Critical Languages Scholarship for the summer 2017, to study Russian.

Addison McTague '18, a double major in Religious Studies and English and a Ricci Scholar, won a Critical Languages Scholarship for the summer 2017 to study Arabic in Oman.

Critical Language Scholarships: This is a summer-only program which provides full funding to study one of thirteen less-commonly taught languages: Arabic, Azerbaijani, Bangla, Chinese, Hindi, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Persian, Punjabi, Russian, Turkish, or Urdu. Both undergraduate and graduate students can apply. Deadline is in November. www.clscholarship.org

Saeger Godson '17, an Economics and International Studies major, won a CLS for the summer 2017 to study Mandarin in Suzhou, China. He previously won a Gilman Scholarship to study in China in the fall 2015.

U.S. Fulbright Student Program: Graduating seniors and graduate students up to the doctoral level can apply for research or teaching in more than 140 countries, funded by the Department of State. Campus deadline is in September; institutional deadline is in October. www.us.fulbrightonline.org

Kelsey Egan '16, in the School of Social Work, won a Fulbright English Teaching Assistantship to Greece.

Riti Patel '14, who earned a BA in International Studies and a BBA in Finance at Loyola, won a Fulbright Binational Internship to Mexico.

For information on more awards, visit the Fellowship Office website at:
<http://luc.edu/fellowshipoffice>

EXCELLENCE
SCHOLARSHIP
ACHIEVEMENT

The Fellowship Office of Loyola University Chicago

