Academic Alerts
It’s mid-term! Loyola invites faculty members to enter mid-term grades into LOCUS. Students who are currently earning C- or below may be alerted so that they may address their standing in their classes. If you receive an academic alert, talk with your advisor about resources that are available to you. Tutoring, study groups, and study skills are all helpful ways to get back on track. If you decide to drop a class, remember that the deadline to do so with a “W” grade is Friday, November 4. FSYA will sponsor the Study Smarter, Not Harder workshop at 1 p.m. on Tuesday, October 18 in Mundelein 606.

Congo Week
Events Monday – Friday.
This week features a number of lectures and events to highlight the issues in the Congo. Featuring faculty speakers from political science, anthropology, literature and a film screening of “Pushing the Elephant,” this week highlights some of the invisible conflicts related to international peace, security, humanitarian issues and international development.

Big Questions
Wednesday, October 19, 8 p.m. Simpson MPR
Guided by the questions: What Brings Me Joy?, What Am I Good At?, and What Does the World Need Me To Do?, this series will help you find the answers to your Big Questions. What might the future hold after college? RSVP for Evoke Events at www.luc.edu/evoke. Dinner will be served.

Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows 2
Wednesday and Friday 9 – 11 p.m. Crown Center Auditorium
((dop)) Free Film series: see the ending of this epic series.

The Road to Choosing a Major
Thursday, October 20, 2011, 4 p.m., Mundelein 620
If you are exploring majors and are unsure of which path to follow, this workshop will help you narrow your choices, understand the options and provide guidance as you find the right fit for you.

Fright Fest
Saturday, October 22. Bus leaves at 9 a.m.; be at CFSU by 8:30 a.m.
Sponsored by ((dop)), you can check out the Fright Fest season at Six Flags Great America. You must purchase your ticket for $15 at the CFSU desk (must have ID present). www.luc.edu/dop

As soon as someone knows you are at a university, the immediate question you often hear is “What is your major?” Due to the benefits of a liberal arts education and the Core Curriculum at LUC, we have the option of exploring many different fields and academic disciplines. Having said this, take classes outside of your major, explore new fields. If you are undecided, do not fear. You have plenty of time to decide what you would like to pursue. Over the next four years, do not limit yourself to your major but rather explore through your interests!
~Joshua Stephani (Junior)