Adobe Creative Cloud
Updated Summer 2019

To use any Adobe CC application (including Acrobat DC Pro), users will need to sign in to an account.

All members of Loyola University Chicago can use their Loyola e-mail address and password (the same credentials used for lab workstations, LOCUS, Sakai, e-mail, etc.). However, personal Adobe accounts are supported as well.

If you will be handling and using PDFs (saving documents as PDFs, scanning, editing, or creating PDFs), sign into Adobe Creative Cloud from the desktop shortcut using your Loyola e-mail and password FIRST to avoid issues.

An “Enterprise ID” has been created for all LUC students, faculty, and staff. If you previously signed up for Adobe using your@luc.edu address, you'll have the option to choose between your Personal or School account.

Choosing “Enterprise ID” will lead you to the Loyola Single Sign-On (SSO) page, use your UVID and password.
