E-mail Communication Policy

Electronic Mail: Each admitted student is issued a Novell GroupWise e-mail account, which is used as the primary means of communications for Loyola University Chicago School of Law. Students must review their e-mail on a daily basis or on a reasonable basis to obtain current information on law school academic and administrative matters as well as activities and events. Please note, some of the messages received through the Novell GroupWise account may not be relevant to every degree program within the law school.

By printing and signing your name below, you confirm your compliance with the School of Law’s E-mail Communication Agreement.
