APPLICATION FOR CERTIFICATE INTERNATIONAL LAW AND PRACTICE FOR J.D. STUDENTS

Information and Instructions for J.D. Students Seeking Certificate in International Law

Background on the Certificate

The faculty of the Loyola Chicago School of Law have approved a certificate program for J.D. graduates who have elected to concentrate in the field of international law. The decision to award the certificate was motivated by several factors:

1. An increasing awareness of the need for specialization in legal education
2. The possibility that a certificate would help J.D. students obtain jobs doing international legal work by recognizing that they have committed themselves to mastering the basics of international law and practice
3. The recognition that an increasing number of students are attracted to Loyola because of our program in international law and business
4. A realization that students who do not pursue post-graduate law studies such as an LL.M. still desire confirmation of the fact they took specialized courses in the international area.

Receiving the Certificate

The certificate will appear as an official comment on the J.D. transcript, and degree candidates and alumni are free to indicate their certificate status on their resume and bios. Certificate recipients will be acknowledged at the law school's award ceremony held in the spring. Actual certificates will be given to students at the time that diplomas are distributed, usually 4-6 weeks after the graduation ceremony. Please note that certificate status will not be noted in the commencement program nor at the commencement ceremony.

1. Carefully complete application form attached to these instructions.
2. Obtain an unofficial copy of your J.D. transcript through the LOCUS system.
3. Make an appointment with Professor Gathii or Professor Moses to counsel you on your curricular choices for the certificate. At the appointment, Professor Gathii or Professor Moses will sign your form
4. Bring your signed form with you to your graduation interview with the Law School Registrar, Dora Jacks.
5. Your certificate status will be noted on your transcript when your degree is posted and you will be informed as to when and where to pick up your certificate.
