INTERNATIONAL FOCUS

AT LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO SCHOOL OF LAW

Curriculum

Loyola University Chicago School of Law provides an environment where a global perspective is respected and encouraged. International and comparative law is not studied only in theoretical, abstract terms but primarily in the context of values-based professional practice. In addition to purely international classes, courses in other disciplines—health law, child and family law, advocacy, business and tax, anti-trust, intellectual property—have strong international and comparative components.

International Centers

The School of Law has been designated by the United Nations as the home of its Children's International Human Rights Initiative. The Children's International Human Rights Initiative promotes the physical, emotional, educational, spiritual and legal rights of children around the world through a program of interdisciplinary research, teaching, outreach and service. It is part of Loyola's Civitas ChildLaw Center, a program committed to preparing lawyers and other leaders to be effective advocates for children, their families, and their communities.

Study Abroad

Loyola's international curriculum is expanded by its foreign programs and field study opportunities:

International Programs

- A four-week summer program at Loyola's permanent campus in Rome, focusing on international and comparative law
- A four-week summer program on European legal institutions that includes visits to the Council of Europe in Strasbourg, France, the European Court of Justice in Luxemburg, and the Commission of the European Union and the headquarters of NATO in Brussels, Belgium, followed by two weeks of international courses in Oxford, England.

International Field Study

- A ten-day between-semester course in London on comparative advocacy, where students observe trials at Old Bailey, and afterwards meet with judges and barristers to discuss the substantive and procedural aspects of the trial that are uniquely British. Students also visit the Inns of the Court and the Law Society, and have the opportunity to visit the offices of barristers and solicitors.
- A comparative law seminar on Legal Systems of the Americas which offers students the opportunity to travel to Chile over the spring break for on-site study and research. In Santiago, participants meet with faculty and students at the Law Faculty of Universidad Alberto Hurtado, as well as with a variety of lawyers, judges and business people.

- A one-week site visit experience in San Juan, Puerto Rico. While in Puerto Rico, students have the opportunity to research the island-wide health program for indigents as well as focus on Puerto Rico's managed care and regulation.
- A comparative law seminar focused on African legal systems. The seminar uses a collaborative immersion approach to learning about a particular country and its legal system, with particular emphasis on legal issues affecting children and families. The course includes a required field study component over spring break. In the Spring of 2006 students will have the opportunity to travel to Tanzania.

International Moot Court Competition

Students also hone their international skills in three moot competitions: (1) the Phillip Jessup Competition, which involves a moot court argument on a problem of public international law; (2) the Niagara Cup Competition which involves a moot court argument on a problem involving an area of dispute between the United States and Canada, with teams representing both U.S. and Canadian law schools; (3) the Willem C. Vis International Moot Arbitration, involving a problem under the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods. Two separate teams of student oralists argue against law school teams from all over the world, one team going to Hong Kong, and the other to Vienna, Austria.

Wing-Tat Lee Lecture Series

Mr. Wing-Tat Lee, a Hong Kong businessman, established a lecture series with a grant to the School of Law. The lectures focus on an aspect of international or comparative law.

This year's guest speaker was Professor Richard B. Bilder, Foley & Lardner Emeritus Professor of Law at the University of Wisconsin Law School. Professor Bilder addressed students on the importance of lawyer involvement in foreign relations and the qualities necessary for lawyers to adequately involve themselves in international law.
