Loyola University Chicago School of Law Study Law Abroad Program

June 16 – July 14, 2018

36th Annual Rome Program 2018

Featuring Guest Instructor U.S. Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg
“All roads lead to Rome.”
As the seat of power under Roman emperors, later the Papacy, and currently the capital of modern Italy, Rome displays its rich and varied history on every street and in every piazza. The Colosseum, the Pantheon, the Spanish Steps, the Trevi Fountain, the Tiber River, the Roman Forum, the Vatican—the splendors of Rome await the visitor. Rome today is the seat of the Italian government and is the site of offices of the European Union and other international institutions, as well as the offices of private law firms, banks and corporations. Loyola’s Study Abroad Program will take advantage of these facilities and institutions to introduce students to the study and practice of law in a foreign culture. It is expected that this introduction to comparative and international law will give students a deeper understanding of their own legal culture.

Loyola Rome Center Campus

John Felice Rome Center
Loyola has operated the Rome Center of Liberal Arts since 1962. The present campus, used since 1978, is located on Monte Mario, the highest hill in present-day Rome, about twenty minutes from downtown Rome by public transportation. The landscaped campus contains classrooms, a library, student dormitories, faculty and administrative offices, a chapel, a cafeteria, recreation and exercise rooms, a coffee bar, and a basketball court. For more information about the Rome Center campus, visit the Loyola University Rome Center website at http://www.luc.edu/rome/.
RUTH BADER GINSBURG was born in Brooklyn, New York, on March 15, 1933. She received her B.A. from Cornell University, attended Harvard Law School, and received her LL.B from Columbia Law School. Ginsburg served as a law clerk to Judge Edmund L. Palmieri of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York from 1959-1961. She then became associate director of a comparative law project sponsored by Columbia University which required her to study the Swedish legal system. In 1963 Ginsburg joined the faculty of Rutgers Law School in Newark, New Jersey. In 1972 she was hired by Columbia Law School, where she taught until 1980. Ginsburg served as a fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences in Stanford, California from 1977-1978. In the 1970s Ginsburg litigated sex discrimination cases for the American Civil Liberties Union, and was instrumental in launching its Women’s Rights Project in 1973. She served as general counsel of the ACLU from 1973-1980 and on the National Board of Directors from 1974-1980. President Jimmy Carter appointed Ginsburg to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in 1980. On June 14, 1993 Ginsburg accepted President Bill Clinton’s nomination to the Supreme Court and took her seat on August 10, 1993.
Additional Guest Lecturers

Judge Ann Claire Williams
US Court of Appeals for the 7th Circuit

Judge Ann Claire Williams served in the federal judiciary from 1985, assuming senior status in the summer of 2017. The first African-American woman judge appointed to the Northern District of Illinois and the first African-American judge on the United States court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, this Detroit native has been committed to creating opportunities for minority lawyers and has also participated in numerous international judicial training initiatives.

Jane C. Ginsburg

Jane Carol Ginsburg is the Morton L. Janklow Professor of Literary and Artistic Property Law at the Columbia Law School. Professor Ginsburg also directs the law school’s Kernochan Center For Law, Media and the Arts. In 2011, Ginsburg was elected to the British Academy, a distinct and rare honor for American scholars. Ginsburg attended The Brearley School. An expert on copyright, Ginsburg has written various treatises and law review articles. She holds a Bachelor’s (1976) and Master's of Arts (1977) from the University of Chicago, a law degree (1980) from Harvard Law School, and a DEA with a Fulbright grant (1985) and a Doctor of Law (1995) from Panthéon-Assas University. At Harvard, she served as an editor of the Harvard Law Review. After law school, she clerked for Judge John Gibbons of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

She is the daughter of United States Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg and law professor Martin Ginsburg, both of whom formerly served on the Columbia Law School faculty. Justice Ginsburg and Jane are the first mother–daughter pair ever to serve on the same law faculty in the United States.
Curriculum

(Session I)
International Business Transactions (Gathii)
An introduction to the legal aspects of international business. This one-credit course emphasizes the legal problems associated with international trade in goods and foreign direct investment, and covers regulation at the private, national, and international levels. The overview of International Business Transactions will address a) the sources which must be consulted by the lawyer whose clients conduct business transnationally; b) how these sources are interpreted and by whom; c) when and how local counsel should be utilized effectively; d) how international disputes are best resolved.

International Human Rights (Ramirez)
This one credit course serves as an introduction to international human rights law, providing an overview of human rights protections internationally using the US as a base-line comparison. The course surveys international, regional and national instruments and processes for the protection of human rights, including civil and political rights in addition to economic, social and cultural rights. The course will explore the theoretical, historical and doctrinal dimensions of human rights law and procedure, including an assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of international efforts to implement human rights principles on a global scale.

(Session II)
International Art Law (Rhodes with guest lecture by Professor Jane C. Ginsburg, Columbia University School of Law)
This one credit course will provide an overview of the international law issues that can arise in the acquisition, ownership and disposition of works of art that crosses borders. Specific topics include restitution of Nazi-expropriated art, moral rights, and international art loans. Questions will include commissioning works of art, acquiring works of art privately through foreign dealers or galleries, or by way of auction, and the questions of competing title that arise over works of art or cultural property proceeding from war or peace time looting.

International Commercial Arbitration (Moses)
Students will learn about both law and practice. In addition to understanding how the laws of several jurisdictions interface with arbitral rules, students will have practical experience drafting an arbitration clause and participating in a mock arbitration.

General Information

Loyola University Chicago
Founded in 1870, Loyola University Chicago is the oldest university in the City of Chicago. The school of law admitted its first class in 1908 and has been accredited by the American Bar Association since 1925. Loyola University Chicago is the largest Jesuit university in the United States.

Administration
Jean M. Gaspardo, B.S., Wisconsin; M.B.A., J.D., Loyola-Chicago. Dean Gaspardo served in the capacity of Director of Student Services for Loyola from 1993 – 1999, and as assistant dean from 1999 to the present. Her current responsibilities as Dean of Students and Law Programs include: counseling students; directing of Study Law Abroad Programs in Rome and China; assisting with the London Advocacy Program and Spring Break programs abroad; and assisting with administrative operations of the law school. Dean Gaspardo has an extensive background in small business and world travel. She speaks fluent Italian and can also communicate in Spanish and French. Dean Gaspardo has accompanied Loyola’s summer abroad programs continuously since 1991.

Registration
To register, fill out the application form online (available October 2017) and mail the non-refundable application fee for each program to which you apply ($600 for Rome) to the address indicated. The application fee will be credited toward your activity fee.

Registration via LOCUS on-line is February 22 - April 2, 2018. Students must register for a minimum of four (4) credit hours per program, absent a waiver from the program director. A non-refundable deposit of $600 is required at the time of application submission. All tuition, fees and housing costs for the program must be paid in full by April 2, 2018.

Space is limited, apply early. Only 50 students will be accepted into the Rome Program.

Please note: Except in the event of the cancellation of the 2018 program or of any particular course, no tuition can be refunded after April 2, 2018. Students who withdraw from a course after that date cannot receive a refund of tuition. ABA standards on U.S. State Department Consular Information regarding “Areas of Instability” and Travel Warnings in those countries where programs are held will govern program cancellation.

Eligibility
Any student in good standing at Loyola University Chicago School of Law who has successfully completed at least one year of legal study is eligible to participate. Last year our Rome Program enrolled 21 students.

Credit & Grades
The 2018 Study Law Abroad Program is offered as part of the fully accredited curriculum of Loyola University Chicago School of Law. The program is also fully accredited by the ABA. Grades for courses will be earned and awarded in increments of A, A-, B+, B, B-, C+, C, C-, D, F; grades will be determined by a written examination and/or paper(s) at the discretion of the instructor. Acceptance of any credit or grade for any course taken in the program is subject to determination by the student’s home school. It is unlikely that participation in foreign summer programs may be used to accelerate graduation. A student interested in acceleration of graduation should discuss this issue with his/her school officials in light of ABA Standard 305, Interpretation 4.

Financial Aid
Financial Aid may be available from the school financial aid office. Loyola Chicago students should contact the Financial Aid Office of Loyola University Chicago School of Law at (773) 508-3376.

Loyola Students
February 22 – April 2, 2018: Financial Aid Loan application can be submitted after registering, but not later than April 2, 1918. Submit to Loyola Admission and Financial Aid Office. Late applications, at best, generate late funding (post-departure).

Materials
After registering, students will be responsible for obtaining the required course materials. Students should contact the Loyola University Bookstore to obtain the course materials in the United States and should bring them abroad. The bookstore will stock all assigned materials by late-April and will fill orders from outside Chicago promptly by mail: Loyola University Book Store, 26 E. Pearson St., Chicago, IL 60610. (312) 915-7420.

Transportation
Students will be expected to make their own travel arrangements to their Study Law Abroad program location(s), including transportation from the airport to the campus. Train travel between cities is a convenient mode of transportation. Many students opt to purchase a European Rail Pass through a travel agency in the U.S.

Accessibility
The Rome Campus is not accessible for use by people who use wheelchairs or who are visually impaired. The snack bar, classrooms, and other rooms can be reached only by stairs. Public facilities in Rome and transportation are generally not accessible to people with disabilities.

Optional Travel
The Rome Program allows ample time for students to take advantage of a variety of travel destinations, such as Florence, Naples/Pompeii, or Venice. Students who choose to travel on weekends will be responsible for their own travel arrangements and related costs while away from campus.

Passports
Each student in the program should have a valid passport. Students are responsible for obtaining their own passports. Allow at least two months processing time in securing a passport. All students must submit a copy of their passport to Dean Gaspardo by April 2, 2018.
