TO: Professor of Military Science, Loyola University of Chicago, Chicago,
Illinois 60626

1. In accordance with provisions of paragraph 4-14, CI, AR 145-1, the distinctive shoulder loop insignia described in paragraph 5, basic letter is authorized for wear by the SROTC cadets at Loyola University of Chicago.
2. The authorized insignia will be worn in accordance with current regulations.
3. For use in procurement, inclosed are a drawing (six times actual size) of the insignia (Incl 7) and a color guide (Incl 8). Also furnished is a list of certified manufacturers (Incl 9). Request two samples of the insignia be forwarded to this Institute for record purposes.
4. The design of shoulder sleeve insignia (Incl 3) has been modified by adding a scroll below the shield inscribed "CHICAGO". The design is described as follows:

DESCRIPTION

A yellow shield-shaped device with a yellow horizontal scroll attached above the shield, and a yellow scroll following the configuration of the shield attached below, all edged with a 1/8 inch maroon border, the overall dimensions 3 15/16 inches in height and 2 5/8 inches in width, on a maroon base a pattern of seven yellow diagonal stripes extending from the viewer's upper right to lower left below the silhouette of two wolves facing a pot suspended from the top of the shield by two chain links, all maroon. On the horizontal scroll the inscription "LOYOLA" and on the scroll below the shield the inscription "CHICAGO" in maroon letters 5/16 inch in height.

SYMBOLISM

Maroon and gold (yellow) are the colors of the University. The two wolves with the kettle suspended from the pot hooks were taken from the coat of arms of the Loyola family. The wolves and pot symbolise the family name, as "LOBO" is the Spanish word for wolf and "OLIA" the word for pot.
