General Information about the Convention

Appropriate Conduct at the MMLA Convention. The MMLA Convention depends upon all participants (panelists, attendees, staff) conducting themselves in a professional manner. We are committed to ensuring a safe, welcoming, non-discriminatory environment for all participants. Additional details can be found on our website at: https://www.luc.edu/mmla/convention/generalinformation/

Pre-registration and Registration. The pre-registration fees for forms received by October 15, 2022 are as follows: regular registration at $95, and special registration (for students, retired, part-time, and unemployed persons only) at $45. Any forms that arrive after the October 15 deadline will be assessed a late registration premium as follows: regular registration at $160; special registration (for students, retired, part-time, and unemployed persons only) at $90. The MMLA’s Registration Desk will be located on the Fourth floor of the hotel. Hours are as follows: 8:00 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. on Thursday; 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Friday; 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday. Payment of the registration fee does not constitute payment for membership in the Association. Cash and checks are accepted. We are unable to accept credit cards on site.

Location of Meeting Rooms. All regularly scheduled meetings and events will be held on the fourth floor of the hotel. Please refer to the hotel floor plans in this program book.

Workshop Organization. Each panelist will discuss their own experience with their careers and what they have found particularly helpful along the way. Workshops are usually an hour and fifteen minutes long, leaving each member of the panel about 10-15 minutes to speak before addressing questions from the audience for the remainder of the time.
Associated Organizations. Because of shared disciplinary interests, MMLA annually provides time and meeting space during its convention for the meeting of other organizations referred to in the program as “Associated Organizations.” These meetings are open to all who are registered for the MMLA Convention and display an identification badge. Associated meetings will be held this year by the following organizations: Civil War Caucus, Margaret Atwood Society, International TS Elliot Society, Midwest Victorian Studies Association, Reception Study Society, Society for the Study of Midwestern Literature, Studies in Twentieth- and Twenty-First- Century Literature, and Women in French.

Child Care. Please contact the hotel to speak to the concierge, who can supply a list of bonded child-care providers.

Job Interviews. Department chairs and job applicants are welcome to use the meeting as a convenient occasion for scheduling interviews, but the Association suggests that candidates and school representatives make plans in advance by exchanging information and setting up appointments through correspondence. The MMLA does not have sufficient administrative personnel to provide a faculty exchange system at the convention.

Governance of Sections. The Permanent Sections of the MMLA are governed according to the “Revised Guidelines.” In brief, the secretary of each section, to be elected at the Annual Convention, becomes its chair the next year. In order to establish a new permanent section of the MMLA Annual Convention, members should propose a forum for approval by the Program Committee. After three consecutive years of successful meetings of the forum, a petition for permanent status should be sent to the MMLA Office for recommendation by the Program Committee and a decision by the Executive Committee. The petition should include a statement of purpose and the signatures of at least twenty current MMLA members.

Americans with Disabilities Act. Those registrants who require special accommodations are welcome to indicate their needs in the spaces provided on the registration form. Every effort will be made to accommodate registrants with ADA-related needs.

Future Conventions of the MMLA.
2023: Hyatt Regency Cincinnati, Cincinnati, OH (November 2-5)
2024: Hilton Chicago, Chicago, IL (November 13-17)

2023 Proposed Sessions. Any MMLA member may propose a topic for a special session at the 2023 Annual Convention by emailing us at mmla@luc.edu. The deadline for submission of special session topics or call for papers for the 2023 Annual Convention is February 15, 2023. In making its selection, the MMLA Program Committee will take the following into account: thoroughness of proposal, originality of contribution, and balance and diversity of the total Annual Convention program. Availability of meeting space will determine the total number of proposals that can be included.

I. Keynote Address

Friday, November 18th

78. You've Got to be Carefully Bought: Money, Power, and Higher Education in The United States
5:30 PM - 6:30 PM
Great Lakes C

There is little doubt that the recent pandemic had a detrimental effect on higher education, if for no other reason than it gave executive leadership the justification to reallocate tenure lines, dispense with lower-enrolling disciplines, and cull "unnecessary" academic staff, all in the name of emergency action if not actual financial exigency. The primary target of these measures was and is the Humanities. However, while the pandemic presented an undeniable natural opportunity to deal a cataclysmic blow to the liberal arts, it was made permissible and even palatable by an ever-increasing culture of anti-intellectualism that had long been stoked by wealthy extremists in the United States. This presentation examines the history of the relationship between money, politics, and higher education as a means of offering at least one explanation for the current state of affairs and suggestions for how to move forward "post-now."

Sarah Gendron is Professor of French and Cultural Studies at Marquette University in Milwaukee Wisconsin. Gendron is a recipient of Fulbright Research Fellowship and the 3-year Way Klingler Research Fellowship. She is the author of Reading Repetition in the Work of Samuel Beckett, Jacques Derrida, and Gilles Deleuze (2008) and The Co-Opting of Education by Extremist Factions: Professing Hate (2020). She has also authored literary translations—one by Simone de Beauvoir and completed with Sylvie le Bon de Beauvoir, and one a Goncourt-winning novel by Frédéric Brun—and has authored numerous scholarly articles focusing on cultural propaganda, genocide, and gender studies. Gendron is currently conducting research for two book projects: Sub silentio: Gender-based Violence in International Humanitarian Law, and Fury: Irish women as political, social, and paramilitary activists for a United Ireland.

III. Professionalizing Sessions

Thursday, November 17th

6. Self-Editing for Clarity
Presenter: Rebecca Marsh, Copyeditor for JMMLA
10:00 AM - 11:15 AM
Virtual 5

The misplaced punctuation or faulty syntax that disrupts the flow of your prose may also affect the reader’s understanding and engagement with your argument. If you struggle with editing your own writing, let the copy editor of the MMLA journal help you recognize some issues that may result in misreading. This session will suggest ways to restructure sentences for greater clarity, making you more aware of your options and more confident in your syntactic and semantic choices.

Leaders: Justin Hastings, University of Delaware, and Gaywyn Moore, Highland Community College
2:30 PM - 3:45 PM
Virtual 1

Equal parts roundtable and group discussion, this session will provide both emotional support and useful information for job candidates and those considering a change at any chronological point in their careers. At the heart of the session is an ethos that our academic training provides skills and perspectives that equip us for a range of employment options beyond more traditional paths within academe.

Friday, November 18th

42. Navigating Promotion and Tenure: A Balanced Approach
Leaders: Tisha Brooks, Southern Illinois University - Edwardsville, and Shanna Salinas, Kalamazoo College
10:00 AM - 11:15 AM
Great Lakes C

The goal of this workshop is to provide participants with a general overview of the promotion and tenure process with an emphasis on understanding how to navigate the challenges and obstacles faculty members face along the way. Since promotion and tenure processes can vary widely by institution, the workshop will also help participants gain an understanding of some of these differences, learn next steps for succeeding at their particular institution, and how to craft a sustainable pathway towards promotion and tenure. Workshop to include brief presentations from panelists, followed by a question and answer session.
68. Organizing a Successful Conference Panel/Seminar
Leaders: Eric Wistrom, University of Wisconsin, Madison, and Jack Kerkering, Loyola University Chicago
2:30 PM - 3:45 PM
Great Lakes C

This interactive workshop will cover all aspects of organizing a successful conference panel or seminar. We will start by discussing strategies for crafting a compelling proposal that engages with your audience by using textual modeling from publicly sourced abstracts and CFPs. We will focus on the features that make these texts compelling and descriptive, by approaching the writing of an abstract or CFP as a genre. We will subsequently discuss options for publicizing your session to a wide, interdisciplinary audience, as well as ethical ways to solicit proposals from your personal network.

Saturday, November 19th

95. Writing Productivity
Leader: Emily L. Sharrett, Loyola University Chicago
10:00 AM - 11:15 AM
Great Lakes C

This workshop will address strategies for building and sustaining explosive writing agendas. We will discuss methods and practices that encourage writers to prioritize consistency, community, and emotional wellbeing in order to sustain a writing schedule that leads to completed projects. Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions and debate together the ways that the strategies may be reworked to best suit the unique needs of each individual. Our objective is to empower workshop participants to walk away with at least one activity or challenge to try to implement until the end of the Fall 2022 term.

123. Technology and Techniques for Successful Online Instruction
Leader: Michelle Medeiros, Marquette University
2:30 PM - 3:45 PM
Great Lakes C

This workshop will provide insights on how to establish a productive learning environment for students and educators using online and interactive tools. We will share a few resources and guidelines to support the development and use of technologies to support online and in-person classes providing students with the opportunity to practice and succeed in diverse and novel learning environments, enhancing digital capability and personal experience.

Professionalizing Workshop
Leaders: Eric Wistrom, University of Wisconsin, Madison, and Jack Kerkering, Loyola University Chicago

DESCRIPTION

This interactive workshop will cover all aspects of organizing a successful conference panel or seminar. We will start by discussing strategies for crafting a compelling proposal that engages with your audience by using textual modeling from publicly sourced abstracts and CFPs. We will focus on the features that make these texts compelling and descriptive, by approaching the writing of an abstract or CFP as a genre. We will subsequently discuss options for publicizing your session to a wide, interdisciplinary audience, as well as ethical ways to solicit proposals from your personal network.

Keynote Address

DESCRIPTION

There is little doubt that the recent pandemic had a detrimental effect on higher education, if for no other reason than it gave executive leadership the justification to reallocate tenure lines, dispense with lower-enrolling disciplines, and term "unnecessary" academic staff. All in the name of emergency action if not actual financial exigency. The primary target of these measures was and is the Humanities. However, while the pandemic presented an undeniable natural opportunity to deal a cataclysmic blow to the liberal arts, it was made permissible and even palatable by an ever-increasing culture of anti-intellectualism that had long been stoked by wealthy extremists in the United States. This presentation examines the history of the relationship between money, politics, and higher education as a means of offering at least one explanation for the current state of affairs and suggestions for how to move forward "post-now."

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Sarah Gendron is Professor of French and Cultural Studies at Marquette University in Milwaukee Wisconsin. Gendron is a recipient of Fulbright Research Fellowship and the 3-year Way Klingler Research Fellowship. She is the author of Reading Repetition in the Work of Samuel Beckett, Jacques Derrida, and Gilles Deleuze (2008) and The Co-Opting of Education by Extremist Factions: Professing Hate (2020). She has also authored literary translations—one by Simone de Beauvoir and completed with Sylvie le Bon de Beauvoir, and one a Goncourt-winning novel by Frédéric Brun—and has authored numerous scholarly articles focusing on cultural propaganda, genocide, and gender studies. Gendron is currently conducting research for two book projects: Sub silentio: Gender-based Violence in International Humanitarian Law, and Fury: Irish women as political, social, and paramilitary activists for a United Ireland.

Professionalizing Workshop
Chairs: Emily L. Sharrett, Loyola University Chicago

DESCRIPTION

This workshop will address strategies for building and sustaining ambitious writing agendas. We will discuss methods, practices, and programs that encourage writers to prioritize consistency, community, and emotional wellbeing in order to sustain a writing schedule that leads to completed projects. Participants will have the opportunity to ask questions and debate together the ways that the strategies may be tailored to suit the unique needs of each individual. Our objective is to empower workshop participants to walk away with at least one activity or challenge to try to implement until the end of the Fall 2022 term.

Current JMMLA Call for Submissions

Spring 2023: Issue on the Theme "Affective Labors"

The Journal of the Midwest Modern Language Association invites submissions for its spring 2023 special issue focused on the theme “Affective Labor.” The special issue editors seek essays from across historical periods that address the role of affective labor in literature, film, and media. We seek analyses of the role of kin work, caring labor, nurturing and maternal activities; of pink collar, gendered labor; and other ways in which the affective is put to work, broadly conceived. Please see additional information and guidelines for submitting at https://www.luc.edu/mmla/journal/.

A non-exhaustive list of subjects we would appreciate reading essays on includes:

- Kin as work, including motherhood and patriarchy in representations of affective labor;
- Care work memoirs, including representations of pink-collar labor;
- Race and affective labor, including the perpetuation of empire through affective labor;
- The commercialization of nurturing, including gender and queerness in narratives of affective labor;
- “Feeling rules” and how they are learned and exploited;
- Precarity, class, and feeling: how particular styles of feeling in work reproduce class distinctions;
- “Cruel Optimism” and the falsity of affective labor as the promise of meaningful work;
- Pleasure, love, hate, and violence in representations of affective labor.

The special issue editors seek essays that are inflected by affective labor’s major theorists. Essays may draw inspiration from:

- Arlie Hochschild’s sociological analyses of emotional labor and its gendered effects;
- The International Wages for Housework Campaign’s analyses of social reproduction work and work by or inspired by its leaders (e.g., Selma James, Mariarosa Dalla Costa, Silvia Federici, Maria Mies, Claudia von Werlfhof, Kathi Weeks);
- Sara Ahmed’s examination of affect for its political divvying up of work environments and sorting of subjects;
- Sianne Ngai’s unravelling of the work that contemporary capitalist aesthetics does to and for its consumers;
• Feminist arguments to abolish the family, most especially contemporary accounts made by Sophie Lewis, M.E. O’Brien;

• Immaterial labor theorists’ analyses of affect’s relation to language-work and just-in-time production in the emergence of post-Fordism (g., Paolo Virno, Maurizio Lazzarato, Christian Marazzi, Antonio Negri, Michael Hardt, Franco Berardi).

We also invite mini-essays (about 2,000 words) for a cluster within this special issue devoted to affective labor in the academy. We are interested in brief takes that explore the intertwining of the affective and the prelogical; affect as a pressure to perform university service; the affects of alt-ac; and the affective complexities of academic precarity.

Queries may be directed to the issue co-editors, Joshua Gooch (goochj@dyec.edu) and Douglas Dowland (d-dowland@onu.edu).
