

Student Gender-Based Violence Climate Survey - FINAL - 4/6/17

Loyola University Chicago takes gender-based violence (sexual misconduct, dating violence, and stalking) very seriously. This survey will provide Loyola with a statistical description of the University climate around, and incidences of, gender-based violence. It takes about 20 minutes to complete. Loyola will use this information to ensure that Loyola is a safe, healthy, and nondiscriminatory institution, and your feedback here will help us in achieving this. Your participation is voluntary, and you may choose to skip questions or stop responding at any point without penalty.

If you agree to participate, you can be assured that your responses are completely confidential and that no individual information will be used in reporting the data. Some of the questions will ask about personal and sexual information and some individuals may experience emotional discomfort. If you are affected by this survey, want to formally report an incident of sexual assault, or want to speak with someone, you can contact Loyola's Sexual Assault Hotline at 773.494.3810 or the Wellness Center at 773.508.2530. At the end of this survey there is additional information about local and national resources available to you should you wish to speak with someone further. If you have questions about this research, please contact Tom Kelly at 312.915.6400. If you wish to continue with the survey, please click on the Continue button. ## Sexual Misconduct

The next set of questions asks you about your thoughts on sexual misconduct and consent. The following is taken from Loyolas 2016-2017 Community Standards.

Consent, means freely given, mutually understandable permission to engage in a specific activity. Silence or a persons lack of verbal or physical resistance does not equal consent. Submission resulting from force, coercion, or intimidation is not consent. A persons manner of dress does not convey consent. A persons consent to one form of sexual activity or sex act does not grant consent to any other sexual activity or sex act. Past consent does not equal consent; consent must be gained for every sexual interaction. Consent may be withdrawn at any time, at which point sexual activity must cease. A persons consent to engage in sexual activity with one person does not constitute consent to engage in sexual activity with another. Persons who would be related to their sexual partner or who are under the legal age (which is 17 in Illinois) cannot give consent to sexual activity under any circumstances.

Additionally, if a person is known or reasonably should be known to be incapacitated, then any sexual activity with that person is sexual misconduct. Incapacitation means a state in which an individual cannot understand the nature of an act (meaning they cannot comprehend the who, what, when, where, why, or how of an interaction) to the extent that they do not have command over their own decisions. Examples of incapacitation may include, but are not limited to: a person who consumes alcohol or other drugs to the extent that they are severely impaired; a person who has a severe mental or physical disability that hinders their ability to understand the nature of a sexual activity; or a person who is asleep or has passed out. Evidence of incapacitation may include, but is not limited to: stumbling, experiencing a black-out, demonstrating a loss of coordination, vomiting, slurring of words, or other abnormal behavior.

Sexual Misconduct is defined as:

Non-Consensual Sexual Penetration (commonly known as rape or sexual assault)

- any sexual penetration (anal, oral, or vaginal, including any contact between mouth and genitals)
- however, slight
- using any body part
- or object
- by a person upon another person, regardless of sex or gender identity
- without consent (as defined above)

Non-Consensual Sexual Contact (also a form of sexual assault)

- any intentional sexual contact
- however, slight
- using any body part
- or object
- by a person upon another person, regardless of sex or gender identity
- without consent (as defined above)

Sexual contact includes intentional contact by any body part or object with the breasts, buttocks, groin, or genitals; or making another individual touch you or themselves on the breasts, buttocks, groin, or genitals using any body part or object. Sexual contact may also include other intentional bodily contact that is done in a sexual manner.

*For a full definition of sexual misconduct, please refer to Loyolas 2016-2017 Community Standards.

Q6: Please indicate your level of agreement with the following statements based on the scale below:

Stalking

The next set of questions asks you about your experiences with stalking. The following is taken from Loyolas 2016-2017 Community Standards.

Stalking is a serious offense, and is expressly prohibited. Stalking is a course of conduct (two or more acts) directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to feel fear for their safety or the safety of others or to suffer substantial emotional distress. Examples of stalking acts may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- non-consensual communication, including face-to-face communication, telephone calls, voice messages, emails, written letters, gifts, or any other communications that are undesired
- use of online, electronic, or digital technologies, including: posting of pictures online, sending unwanted/unsolicited email or chat requests, posting private or public messages on social media sites, installing spyware on someones computer, and using GPS to monitor a person
- pursuing or following someone or waiting uninvited near place where a person frequents
- surveillance or other types of unreasonable observation, including staring or peeping
- trespassing or vandalism
- gathering information about an individual from friends, family, or co-workers
- threatening harm to self or others

Any of the above acts may still be considered stalking behaviors even if facilitated by a third party. Substantial emotional distress means significant mental anguish or suffering that may, but does not necessarily; require medical or other professional treatment or counseling.

Dating/Domestic Violence

The next set of questions asks you about your experiences with dating and domestic violence. The following is taken from Loyolas 2016-2017 Community Standards.

Dating violence is any violence (including but not limited to emotional, physical, sexual, and financial abuse or threat of abuse) between two people who are or have been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. The existence of such a relationship will depend on the length and type of the relationship and the frequency of interactions between the persons involved. Domestic violence is violence between two people who are or have been in an intimate or romantic relationship, who share a child in common, or who live or have lived together as spouse or intimate partners or roommates. Violence against any person by that persons caretaker or guardian (such as abuse against an elderly, young, or disabled person) may also be considered domestic violence. Examples of domestic violence include but are not limited to physical, emotional, sexual, and financial abuse or threat of abuse.
