FIN 335-201 Investments

This course is designed to provide a basic framework for investment analysis. You will be introduced to the range of financial instruments and the markets in which they trade. We will focus on the analysis of equity securities (common stocks) and fixed-income securities (bonds). We will cover derivatives (options and futures).

1. Understand the process of valuation for stocks and bonds
2. Learn the role of derivatives to manage risk.

The required text is Essentials of Investments by Bodie, Kane and Marcus, 9th edition, McGraw-Hill.
Courses: The final course grade will be based on:

- Quizzes: 15%
- Project: 10%
- Mid-term exam: 35%
- Final exam: 40%

There will be two quizzes at the beginning of the class on February 20 and April 17. The project will be due on April 24.

Grading Scale:

The performance of class attendance and participation are fundamental components of learning, so punctual attendance at all classes, for the full class meeting period, is expected of Quinlan students. Faculty may set participation policies unique to their courses and use class participation as a component of the final grade. The student is responsible for any assignments or requirements missed during an absence.

Loyola University academic policy provides that tests or examinations may be given during the semester or summer sessions as often as deemed advisable by the instructor. Because Quinlan faculty believe examinations represent a critical component of student learning, required examinations should be taken during the regularly scheduled class period. Make-up examinations are discouraged. Exceptions may be granted only by the faculty member or department chair, and only for unavoidable circumstances (illness verified by a signed physician’s note, participation in intercollegiate athletic events, subpoenas, jury duty, military service, bereavement, or religious observance). A make-up final examination may be scheduled with the permission of the appropriate Quinlan Assistant or Associate Dean.

If a make-up examination must be given, it is the responsibility of the faculty member to arrange, schedule, and proctor the exam. The only regular exception is for a student athlete, who uses the testing services of the Athletics Department to complete a make-up examination. If a student with a documented special testing need, please consult University policy governing use of the testing center in Sullivan Center at Lake Shore Campus.
All members of the Quinlan School shall refrain from academic dishonesty and conduct in all forms, including plagiarism, cheating, misrepresentation, fabrication, and hood...Plagiarism or cheating on the part of the student in individual or group academic or in examination behavior will result minimally in the instructor assigning the grade of “F” the assignment or examination. In addition, all instances of academic dishonesty must be reported to the chairperson of the department involved.

For further information about expectations for academic integrity and sanctions for violations, consult the complete Quinlan School of Business Honor Code and Statement of Academic Integrity on the Quinlan website:
