FINC 337 -- Banking, Money, and Capital Markets; Spring 2014

MWF / 11:30 - 12:20, Maguire Hall Room 303

Catalog Description

- This course is an introduction to financial markets and institutions, and to the Federal Reserve and monetary policy.

- Prerequisites/Requirements: Prerequisites: Junior standing; Minimum grade of "C-" in FINC 332

Course Overview

- The objective of this course is to provide students with an understanding of the fundamental principles of money, banking, and capital markets. Students will gain in-depth understanding of the fundamentals of financial market operation, including their institutional structure and government regulatory framework. Students will learn how interest rates and bond prices are determined and interrelated, why and how financial institutions are regulated by the government, and who the Federal Reserve is and how its actions affect the economy. The ethics of financial market operations and government financial regulation will also be discussed.

Required Materials

- The Economics of Money, Banking, and Financial Markets, 10th Ed., 2013, Frederic S. Mishkin. Outside readings, including historical articles about the development of money and banking, and alternative perspectives on the financial crisis of 2007-2009, will be assigned as the course progresses.
Suggested Supplementary Resources

- Lecture and text notes will be made available via Sakai.
- We will be discussing economic news in every class. Please stay abreast of news sources we discuss and be ready to participate in class discussion.
- This is a writing-intensive course. A recommended book is On Writing Well, by William Zinsser. I will be distributing ideas from his book during the course.

Course Requirements and Grading Criteria

- You will be assigned one case study report. You are encouraged to work on these in groups of 4-5 people. These reports will be assigned alphabetical grades. Team presentations will be made based on these case studies.
- Each individual will be responsible for writing an original 12-page research paper on a topic to be decided in consultation with the instructor. The paper will be rewritten twice, with the grade depending on the final iteration. Topic ideas will be offered.
- Extra credit opportunities are possible, but will make up less than 5% of final grade.
- The final class grade will be determined by your individual paper (15%), case study (20%), mid-term exam (30%), and final exam (35%). Case study grades will be equal among team members.
- Both midterm and final exams are closed book. The final exam is comprehensive.
- Please review the Academic Integrity Policy for issues relating to plagiarism and team projects.

Quinlan School of Business Policies:

Attendance

Class attendance and participation are fundamental components of learning, so punctual attendance at all classes, for the full class meeting period, is expected of Quinlan students. Faculty may set participation policies unique to their courses and use class participation as a component of the final grade. The student is responsible for any assignments or requirements missed during an absence.

Make-Up Examinations

Loyola University academic policy provides that tests or examinations may be given during the semester or summer sessions as often as deemed advisable by the instructor. Because Quinlan faculty believe examinations represent a critical component of student learning, required examinations should be taken during the regularly scheduled class period. Make-up examinations are discouraged. Exceptions may be granted only by the faculty member or department chair, and only for unavoidable circumstances (illness verified by a signed physician’s note, participation in intercollegiate athletic events, subpoenas, jury duty, military service, bereavement, or religious observance). A make-up final examination may be scheduled only with the permission of the appropriate Quinlan Assistant or Associate Dean.

If a make-up examination must be given, it is the responsibility of the faculty member to prepare, schedule, and proctor the exam. Limited assistance in proctoring make-up exams may be available through a designated Quinlan administrative assistant. For a student with a documented special testing need, please consult University policy concerning use of the testing center in Sullivan Center at Lake Shore Campus.

Academic Integrity

All members of the Quinlan School shall refrain from academic dishonesty and misconduct in all forms, including plagiarism, cheating, misrepresentation, fabrication, and falsehood…Plagiarism or cheating on the part of the student in individual or group academic work or in examination behavior will result minimally in the instructor assigning the grade of “F” for the assignment or examination. In addition, all instances of academic dishonesty must be reported to the chairperson of the department involved.

For further information about expectations for academic integrity and sanctions for violations, consult the complete Quinlan School of Business Honor Code and Statement of Academic Integrity on the Quinlan website:
