ENGL 318/ROST 390
The Writing of Fiction: Writing Rome
John Felice Rome Center
Fall 2023
Tuesdays | 9:00-12:00pm
Professor Elizabeth Farren
Email: efarren@luc.edu
Office Hours: Tuesdays 12:00pm (by appointment only)

Course Description
This On-Site, Writing Intensive, Core Course will discuss techniques of fiction writing and offer guidance in generating original fiction that utilizes the city of Rome as inspiration. Students will examine works of literature that reflect the city's vast influence on Western creativity and culture throughout the ages while simultaneously navigating the Eternal City, itself. Students are encouraged to look beyond the veneer of the Rome depicted in travel guides and observe the ways that the Mediterranean city, so thoroughly rooted in history and the concept of “empire”, struggles with contemporary European issues. On site classes take place amidst the quintessential intersection of the ancient, medieval, and modern world, inviting students to respond to, participate in, problematize, and incorporate Rome’s layered history and influence—as well as their own experience of it—into their prose. Through the studied practice of descriptive writing and the examination of the Rome setting as a vital literary component, students will produce their own fictional interpretations of the Eternal City. (Note: English 318 is an elective for non-English majors and English majors not in the CW Concentration & a requirement for English majors in the CW Concentration.)

Learning Outcomes
Students will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the technical vocabulary and critical skills necessary for discussing, analyzing and formulating arguments about fiction writing, and will produce a portfolio of their own original fiction. Through experiential learning, students will gain a deeper understanding of the multidimensional and ongoing influence of the city of Rome upon Western culture, history, art, and ideas and, in particular, literature and literary fiction techniques has the author used to show us this? How does dialogue help us understand these people? Write & print snapshots. See Guidelines. Bring copies to class. Upload to Sakai.

Week 5: Tues. Oct 3

Homework: Ch. 5 Fictional Setting (WF), “Behold the Key”; (Malamud, Sakai); “Boy in Rome” (Cheever, Sakai)

Reader Response 2: Write a 1 page, approximately 250 word response to the above stories and their use of setting. How does the story’s setting change, alter, and create the narrative (or not)? How does the writer use Rome and feature it in these stories? How does the writer use setting to transport you to a particular place. Please address both stories in your response, and please choose clear passages and examples to provide examples. Please post this in your journal. You may handwrite your response, or type, print, and paste into the journal.

Week 6: Tues. Oct 10

Homework: Ch. 7 Point of View (WF); “The San Clemente Syndrome” (Aciman, Sakai) . NB “The Clemente Syndrome” is a chapter from the longer novel, Call Me By Your Name. You are welcome to purchase and read the novel in its entirety as well, though this is not a requirement. Please be prepared to discuss perspective and point of view in this chapter.

Reader Response 3: Write a 2-page response to the role of point of view in “The San Clemente Syndrome”. Please post this in your journal. You may handwrite your responses, or type, print, and paste into the journals. Please make sure to bring your journal with you to class, as you will be turning them in today. (I will return them upon return from Spring Break.)
