Completing your advising appointment online with Zoom.
https://luc.zoom.us/

Zoom is an online meeting platform that can be used from your PC, tablet, or cell phone. Zoom is used for advising appointments, meetings for online classes, and to stream orientation for online participants. Using Zoom for your first advising appointment will allow you to meet with Jennifer Gettings in a format very much like an on-campus face-to-face meeting.

Accessing your first advising appointment online:
1. Download Zoom: https://zoom.us/download.
2. Access your advising appointment with Jennifer Gettings here: https://luc.zoom.us/j/4235116524
3. When you’re given access to the online room, you will be prompted to connect your audio. You can view a video walkthrough of joining a meeting online here: https://support.zoom.us/hc/en-us/articles/201362193-How-Do-I-Join-A-Meeting.

You can find further information about using Zoom on Loyola’s website: https://www.luc.edu/its/itrs/teachingwithtechnology/zoom/zoomparticipantsupportinstructions/

By completing your appointment online with Zoom, you will be satisfying a requirement for new students to complete a Zoom meeting before they start classes. If you decide to complete over the phone or on-campus, you will need to complete your online meeting at another time before the start of your first session.
Learning the tools you’ll use as a student and prepare for your classes.

SCPS has a resource site for our new students meant to give you a solid understanding of Sakai and other online tools you will be using for your classes. This site can be found within your Sakai account (https://sakai.luc.edu/), within the “SCPS Resources” site.

Within the SCPS Resources site, the “Mastering Learning Tools” link can be found within the menu bar along the left side of the site. Under this section of the site you will find further information regarding a number of tasks that degree seeking students are required to complete before they start classes.

The Mastering Learning Tools tasks is required of all degree seeking students and constitutes 5% of the CPST 200 Introduction to Degree Completion grade. To receive the full credit you will need to complete all five tasks. Each task will earn you a score which will be added to the gradebook. Your final score for all six tasks will be passed on to your CPST 200 instructor after the session begins.

Students can earn a total of 100 points if all 5 tasks are completed successfully and on-time. Students receiving anything less than 90 points on their Mastering Learning Tools will be dropped from all but CPST 200 within their first session and will be required to complete an Academic Improvement Plan and meet with the Assistant Dean. Also, students that do not pass CPST 200 on their first attempt will be required to repeat the course the following session and will not be permitted to enroll in another course without prior permission.
