COURSE DESCRIPTION
Tracing the rise of independent filmmaking in the '70s and '80s through its explosion in the '90s and to today, this course will focus on the varying artistic, political and industrial concerns that have affected filmmakers over the last 40 years, from the pioneering cinema of Maya Deren and John Cassavetes to seminal works by filmmakers as diverse as Charles Burnett, Todd Haynes, Spike Lee, Kelly Reichardt, and Barry Jenkins. The class will also pay close attention to the evolving business of independent film, from production to distribution to marketing as well as the changing roles of digital technologies and streaming platforms.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES/GOALS
The main objectives of this course are to provide an in-depth look at the way films are a mix of aesthetic goals and industrial practice, and to see how American independent filmmakers have used the tools at their disposal to create works of film art. Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to:

• Think, write and speak knowledgably about U.S. independent films and specific filmmakers.
• Discuss the ways in which economics and technology effect the entertainment business.
• Discuss the ways in which meaning is communicated through film form.
• Write analytically about cinema.

WORKLOAD/COURSE REQUIREMENTS
Class activities include mandatory film/video screenings; reading of lectures and viewing of clips; participation in class discussions; and completion of papers. Successful completion of this course requires regular and active participation in discussions, satisfactory performance of all writing and/or exam requirements. Repeated, unexcused absences will result in a reduced grade.

FINAL GRADE CALCULATION AND EXPECTATIONS
• PARTICIPATION/ATTENDANCE/DISCUSSION 10%
• REACTION PAPERS (2) 20%
• MID-TERM ASSIGNMENT 30%
  Students will 2 short essays, or write a short 4-5 page essay on single topic/group of films.
• FINAL RESEARCH PROJECT 40%
  Students will write 2 short assigned essays, or a final 8-10-page research essay on a subject of their choosing to be approved by the instructor.

Incompletes: A grade of “incomplete” may be assigned by an instructor at his/her discretion [or you may specify above that you have a ‘no incompletes’ policy]. If an instructor is inclined to offer an incomplete, then the student has a maximum of 4 weeks after the last day of class to complete and submit to the instructor the outstanding work and/or the work agreed upon by the instructor and student. An incomplete becomes an “Unofficial Withdrawal and Failure” (WF) if the work is not submitted in a timely fashion.

ATTENDANCE POLICY
With respect to grading, after missing 3 (three) onsite classes, a student's grade drops one full letter. Upon missing 4 (four) classes, the student fails the course. Lateness – Being late to class three times will be counted as one absence.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
A basic mission of a university is to search for and to communicate truth as it is honestly perceived. A genuine learning community cannot exist unless this demanding standard is a fundamental tenet of the intellectual life of the community. Students of Loyola University Chicago are expected to know, to respect, and to practice this standard of personal honesty. Academic dishonesty can take several forms, including, but not limited to cheating, plagiarism, copying another student’s work, and submitting false documents. These examples of academic dishonesty apply to both individual and group assignments. Please read the university’s entire statement on academic integrity here.

Plagiarism is a serious violation of the standards of academic honesty. Plagiarism is the appropriation of ideas, language, work, or intellectual property of another, either by intent or by negligence, without sufficient public acknowledgement and appropriate citation that the material is not one's own. It is true that every thought probably has been influenced to some degree by the thoughts and actions of others. Such influences can be thought of as affecting the ways we see things and express all thoughts. A detailed description of plagiarism issues can be found here.

Student Accommodations: Any student who needs special accommodation during exams or class periods should provide documentation from the Student Accessibility Center confidentially to the instructor. The instructor will accommodate that student’s needs in the best way possible, given the constraints of course content and processes. It is the student’s responsibility to plan in advance in order to meet their own needs and assignment due dates.

Privacy Statement: Assuring privacy among faculty and students engaged in online and face-to-face instructional activities helps promote open and robust conversations and mitigates concerns that comments made within the context of the class will be shared beyond the classroom. As such, recordings of instructional activities occurring in online or face-to-face classes may be used solely for internal class purposes by the faculty member and students registered for the course, and only during the period in which the course is offered. Instructors who wish to make subsequent use of recordings that include student activity may do so only with informed written consent of the students involved or if all student activity is removed from the recording.

Student Diversity, Equity and Inclusion: As Loyola’s mission statement holds, “We are Chicago's Jesuit, Catholic University-a diverse community seeking God in all things.” Together, as a community rich in diversity, we are called to “expand knowledge in the service of humanity through learning, justice and faith.” Recognizing and appreciating the diverse collection of identities, experiences, perspectives, and abilities of the students, faculty, staff, and community partners with whom we collaborate, the School of Communication commits itself to enriching academic experiences through the advancement of diversity, equity, inclusion, anti-racist, and anti-oppressive practices.

Managing Life Crises and Finding Support: Should you encounter an unexpected crisis during the semester (e.g., securing food or housing, addressing mental health concerns, managing a financial crisis, and/or dealing with a family emergency, etc.), I strongly encourage you to contact the Office of the Dean of Students by submitting a CARE referral (LUC.edu/csaa) for yourself or a peer in need of support.
