“A cow eats goat”, meaning in order to buy water for their cow they have to sell their goat. Responding efforts have been made by locals, local governments and non-government organizations but they have not been successful. Due to lack of sustained collaborations and limited options of local governments to help the poor, the problems continue to the present day.