Biographical History

Mary Ann Smith, a Mundelein College graduate (Class of 1985), has lived in the Edgewater and Uptown communities for thirty years with her husband, Ronald C. Smith, a professor at John Marshall Law School, and her two sons. Long before her appointment as Alderman to the 48th ward, Smith dedicated her time and efforts to the improvements of the ward. She was first involved with ward politics as part of the Independent Voters of Illinois-Independent Precinct Organization (IVI-IPO), working with Edgewater activists Marion Volini and Kathy Osterman, who both served as 48th Ward Aldermen. In 1989, Mayor Richard M. Daley appointed Smith to replace Kathy Osterman who took a position with the Daley administration, and she was elected in her own right two years later. Smith enjoyed several successful reelections, the last in 2007 to her fifth full term as alderman.

In serving the 48th ward, Smith was dedicated to matters concerning the economic and residential development, environmental issues, community outreach through education, traffic and transportation improvements, and expanding services to youth and the elderly. The 48th ward, one of the most diverse in the city, is home to the Edgewater and Uptown communities, with Clark Street as its border to the west, Lake Michigan to the east, and reaching as far north as Sheridan Road and as far south as Leland.

Through her efforts to bring economic and residential development to the 48th ward, Alderman Smith secured nearly $80 million dollars for community improvement projects and was instrumental in bringing Tax Increment Financing districts to her community in order to enhance and encourage community directed redevelopment. As an advocate for human rights, she worked tirelessly to promote ethnic and racial diversity in the Edgewater and Uptown business districts and integrate the new immigrant community with the mainstream structure of the neighborhood. Recognizing the historical beauty in the 48th ward, Alderman Smith led the campaign for two National Register Historic Designations, Bryn Mawr and Uptown Square. She worked diligently to rid the ward of problem buildings which brought harm to the neighborhood.

Known as “Chicago’s Green Alderman” Smith served on various parks and environmental committees including City Council Committee on Chicago parks, City Council Subcommittee on the Chicago Lakefront, Lake Michigan Federation, and PCB Gone. Her leadership on these committees earned her a United Nations Environment Programme Award for Citizen Action to Protect the Global Environment, and she was appointed as the Chicago Representative to the United Nations/USEPA International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives traveling to Berlin to open the 10th Summit in 2000. Smith is known for her concern for the Chicago lakefront and for her multiple accomplishments for the city parks including new programming, providing security for the parks, and increasing the access to the park system to all Chicagoans but especially teenagers and youths.

Alderman Smith worked as an advocate for her community. As an early supporter of Chicago Alternative Policing Strategy (CAPS) she increased programs for public safety and the fight against crime, drugs, and gang activity in the 48th ward. In addition, Smith spearheaded the campaign to improve traffic and transportation in her ward by promoting walkability, which decreases pollution and increases the safety of the neighborhood for residents. Alderman Smith was honored by the Chicago Civic Federation for her Walkable Edgewater program as well as a Soles and Spokes award from the Chicago Area Transportation Study. In collaboration with the 48th ward schools, Smith secured $55 million for education and school improvements. She also spoke for her community when the US Postal Service neglected its services to the ward. Consequently, she brought the Postmaster General to Chicago to speak with residents. In addition to her human rights work with the immigrant community, Smith was an advocate for seniors in nursing homes as was evident by her role as vice chair of the Illinois Citizens for Better Care. Alderman Smith was a strong supporter of the North Halsted project and was honored by the gay community as a friend and ally.

Animal rights and animal control were also an important part of Alderman Smith's agenda. She made efforts to rid Chicago of dog fighting and animal cruelty and has been recognized by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) for her proposed Elephant Protection Ordinance. In addition to the previously mentioned committees, Alderman Smith has served as Commissioner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and the Chicago Plan Commission and has served on City Council Committees on Traffic Control and Safety, Buildings, Rules and Ethics, Budget, Finance, Historical Landmark Preservation, License and Consumer Protection and the Mayoral Task forces on Lake Michigan and on Transportation.

Smith retired in February 2011 as alderman. In the same year, Loyola University Chicago presented Smith with the Coffey Award, one of the university's highest honors. Named for the first president of Mundelein College, Justicia Coffey, BVM, this award honors alumna for their leadership in the community, accomplishments in industry, and service to others. Smith continued to consult on environmental issues after her retirement. She worked for two years to form a nonprofit group to provide environmental education for children in the Cook County Forest Preserve system. Also, after her retirement, she served on the Chicago Landmarks Commission, as the 48th Ward Democratic party president, and on the Zoning Advisory Council for the 48th Ward Alderperson Leni Manaa-Hoppenworth.

Mary Ann Smith died July 31, 2024, from complications from Parkinson's disease at the age of 77. Her funeral service was held at Saint Ita Church in Edgewater, and a celebration of life service was held in the Palm Court of the Mundelein Center on Loyola's Lake Shore Campus. On October 9, 2024, Chicago mayor Brandon Johnson and the entire City Council passed a resolution to honor and highlight Smith's life and her extensive work as an alderperson on behalf of many communities and their issues. Smith lived a majority of her life in the Edgewater neighborhood. Following her passing, the block in which she lived was renamed in her honor on October 27, 2024. The 5400 block of North Wayne Avenue now bears the sign, "Honorary Alderperson Mary Ann Smith Way."
