Biographical/Administrative History

Born in Israel, Sheli Lulkin moved with her family to the United States when her father got accepted to Stanford University. Unable to attend due to the Alien and Sedition Act passed by the federal government, her father decided to move to Chicago where other family members already lived. Lulkin grew up on the north side of Chicago attending Roosevelt High School and the Chicago Teachers' College.

Lulkin became a special education teacher in Chicago Public Schools and an active member of the Chicago Teachers Union in which she served as an officer. Lulkin was also a founder and leader of the Coalition of Labor Union Women (CLUW) and served as editor of Chicago Education News. Lulkin also advocated for the Equal Rights Amendment and was active in various other women's committees.

After attending Loyola University Chicago for a masters' degree and doctorate, which she did not finish, in American Public Policy, Lulkin became a community convener for Congressman Sidney Yates' task force for the lakefront, President of the Association of Sheridan Condo-Coop Owners in Rogers Park, and Executive Director of the Edgewater Chamber of Commerce. She was active in a number of other community organizations, as well: Organization of the NorthEast, Friends of the Park, Save Our Cemetery Committee, and many others.

Scope and Content

The Sheli Lulkin papers span from 1974 to 2008 with some undated material. The collection is a combination of biographical and professional information. The bulk of the collection documents Lulkin's work with organizations concerned about the welfare of Chicago's far north side. Much like Lulkin's own folders, the materials within each folder is in chronological order. Within each series, the folders are arranged alphabetically.

Series 1: Biographical, 1975-2008, n.d., Box 1

Contains correspondence, awards and other certificates Lulkin received, and a hand written draft of her professional vitae.

Series 2: Women and Labor Issues, 1970-1981, n.d., Boxes 1-2

Contains flyers, pamphlets, meeting minutes, reports, and resolutions passed by union organizations from Lulkin's years working with the Illinois Federation of Teachers, the Chicago Teachers Union, the Coalition of Labor Union Women, the Educational Convention, and to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment in Illinois.

Series 3: Chicago Politics, 1977-2008, n.d., Boxes 2-6

Contains newspaper clippings, meeting minutes, flyers, photographs, emails, and newsletters from political campaigns, organizations and issues in northern Chicago. Some items relate to the city as a whole. Of note are copies of primary source items related to Rosehill Cemetery dated to the mid-nineteenth century.

Series 4: Photographs, Oversized and Ephemeral Items, 1974-2007, n.d., Boxes 7-9

Contains community newspapers such as the 49 Line and Uptown Action, union newspapers such as Chicago Teacher and Impact, oversized photographs, an award plaque, a framed picture about the Equal Rights Amendment, and promotional objects from Sharon Bender's Aldermanic campaign including a shopping bag, rulers, rain caps, and a campaign sign.
