Biographical History
Joan Frances Crowley, BVM was born on April 4, 1919, in Chicago, Illinois, to Helen Newell Crowley and Sydney Crowley. Her parents named her Dorothy Helen Crowley. She had one older sister, Frances, and one younger sister, Joan; hence she chose the religious name Joan Frances when she entered the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary (BVM) order on September 8, 1939. As a child, Sr. Joan Frances attended St. Ignatius Grade School and Immaculata High School and earned her bachelor’s degree from the College of Great Falls in Montana in 1946.

Upon graduation, Sr. Joan Frances began teaching history, English, and religion at St. Joseph Academy in Des Moines, Iowa, before moving to Our Lady of Peace High School in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1952. She earned her master’s degree from Marquette University in 1954 and joined the history faculty of Mundelein College in Chicago in 1962. She taught classes on Russian and French history and took student groups on two trips to Russia. In 1989, she co-published Lenin to Gorbachev: Three Generations of Communists with Daniel Vaillancourt, a colleague at Mundelein. In 1990, Sr. Joan Frances was appointed chair of Mundelein’s history department and she continued to teach in the history department at Loyola University Chicago until 1998 after Mundelein’s affiliation with the school in 1991.

Sr. Joan Frances received numerous awards for her teaching, including the first Sears Roebuck Foundation Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Award granted to a Mundelein faculty member, which she earned in 1988. She also received a Fulbright grant in 1965 to study for the summer at the University of Paris. As a result of her co-teaching Mundelein’s “Marxism and Communism” class with Daniel Vaillancourt, Sr. Joan Frances befriended Svetlana (Alliluyeva) Peters, Josef Stalin’s daughter. Through Sr. Joan Frances’ encouragement, Svetlana, who was living in Wisconsin at the time, visited Mundelein College and gave a guest lecture in 1987. Their friendship continued through correspondence until 1996.

Sr. Joan Frances died in Dubuque, Iowa, on October 6, 2009.

Scope and Content
The Joan Frances Crowley, BVM Papers contain materials related to Sr. Joan Frances’ friendship with Svetlana (Alliluyeva) Peters from 1987 until 1996. The bulk of the collection consists of the letters written by Svetlana (who used the name Lana Peters) to Sr. Joan Frances. The letters discuss Svetlana’s visit to Mundelein College and her views on Catholicism, Marxism, and Russia/the Soviet Union. Svetlana was living in Spring Green, Wisconsin, in 1987 when Sr. Joan Frances encouraged one of her students, Julie Bleifuss, to interview her as part of a research paper on Svetlana’s life. Sr. Joan Frances convinced Svetlana to visit Mundelein and continued corresponding with her until the friendship abruptly ended in 1996 due to an article published in the Daily Mail, a newspaper out of London.

This series contains the letters written to Sr. Joan Frances from Svetlana (Alliluyeva) Peters, correspondence between Sr. Joan Frances and her history faculty colleagues, a copy of the Daily Mail article that ended Sr. Joan Frances and Svetlana’s friendship in 1996, photographs, a copy of Svetlana’s book Twenty Letters to a Friend, and an audio tape Svetlana sent to Sr. Joan Frances in 1987.
