Biographical Information

Carol Frances Jegen, B.V.M., was born October 11, 1925 to Julian and Evelyn Jegen of Chicago. Sr. Jegen officially joined the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary (B.V.M.) on September 8, 1944, a little over a month before her nineteenth birthday. Two of her sisters joined other religious orders; her brother inherited the management of Jegen's Florist; and her other sister married and raised a family.

Sr. Jegen received her B.S. in History from St. Louis University in 1951, and both her M.A. in Theology (1958) and her Ph.D. in Religious Studies (1968) from Marquette University. In addition, she studied at St. John's University's Institute for Ecumenical and Cultural Research in Collegeville, Minnesota, during a sabbatical from Mundelein College, 1984-1985. Sr. Jegen also acted as visiting professor in Christian Spirituality at Creighton University (1984, 1986) and as visiting professor at the University of Notre Dame's Institute for Clergy Education (1979, 1982-1983).

Although Sr. Jegen has taught at the elementary, secondary, and university levels, her identity as a scholar and an educator is most often associated with Mundelein College in Chicago. She joined the staff of Mundelein College in 1957. She was an instrumental faculty member at Mundelein from 1957 to 1991, serving the university community as a Professor of Religious Studies

(Associate Professor in 1969 and full Professor in 1972), Theology Department Chairwoman (1957-1964, 1968-1969, 1973), Chairperson of the Peace Studies Committee (1987-1991), coordinator of the Hispanic Institute (1979-1987, 1989-1991), and as the founder and subsequently, director of both Mundelein's Graduate Program in Religious Studies (1967-1977, 1979-1982) and the Mundelein Center for Religious Education (1966-1970).

After Mundelein College was absorbed into Loyola University of Chicago in 1991, Sr. Jegen joined the Loyola community as a Professor of Pastoral Studies and as a consultant to the Instituto Hispanico. She also co-chaired a Peace Studies Committee at Loyola for the College of Arts and Sciences, which established a Peace Studies minor patterned after Mundelein College's model. Sr. Jegen is now Professor Emerita, having retired from Loyola in 1995.

Sr. Jegen devoted much of her energies to the support of Hispanic ministries, work that has earned her an ACP (Association of Chicago Priests) Award and the Loyola University of Chicago Civic Award. She is probably best known, however, for her support of the United Farm Workers (U.F.W.) Movement. She was incarcerated for two weeks in a Fresno prison camp for her involvement. This experience inspired Sr. Jegen to campaign vigorously on behalf of U.F.W. boycotts and to encourage her fellow B.V.M. sisters to support the cause.

Scope and Content

The papers of Sister Carol Frances Jegen, B.V.M., span from 1958 to 2014, focus primarily on her work as an educator, author, and lecturer in numerous conferences, religious retreats, and workshops. Sr. Jegen's work as a social activist, particularly her involvement with the United Farm Workers, is included in the collection. These papers also include professional awards and distinctions and documents regarding committees, meetings, conferences, and publications. Personal and professional correspondences are also included, as well as several curriculum vitae and numerous media clippings featuring Sr. Jegen. Each series and subseries is organized alphabetically.
